

Yes, Virginia, Girl Scouting Needs Money

By BOB PETERSON

The following, with apologies to the late Francis Church of the New York Sun, has to do with the plight of Girl Scouts of the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council who face an increased $15 fee for belonging to the organization. It is based on information supplied by Council President Marianne Arnstein of Atherton. Field Coordinator Bob Fisher of San Francisco and Association Chairman from Daly City Margaret Connolly at a press conference Thursday in Brisbane.

Virginia, your scouting fee increase is a necessary evil.

Opponents of what has become inevitable must remember that we live in an inflationary age. They apparently do not realize that your scouting has been affected by inflation, too. They think that the traditional $2 paid to the national council is a cure-all. In this day and age where the competition for the almighty dollar has increased to a fierce pace, the $2 has fast become a mere pittance when put up against the needs of your troop.

No, Virginia, Girl Scouting is not free. It never has been. Regardless of what your little friends have told you, someone has been footing the bill for those excursion trips and other activities you enjoy so much. How wonderful it would be if that money were still available at the simple request of a donation. If that were so, the proposed $15 increased fee for belonging would not be necessary, and the council would not have a $50,000 deficit.

In the past, Virginia, money has come from your mom and dad and from your little friends' moms and dads, and also through the United Bay Area Crusade. Then, of course, you have your cookie and calendar sales. What a wonderful thing it would be, Virginia, if these methods of funding could continue to sustain you.

Alas! It is not so. The sustaining membership enrollment fund drives that once brought in sufficient funds have soured. Of the 30,000 families contacted, a mere 6,000 respond with financial help. UBAC continues to give its support, but that takes care of only $10 of the $25 that the council has found is necessary per girl scout for a year's activities. The $2, of course, goes to the national council, which means $15 per girl must be found somewhere.

It's sad, but true, Virginia, that even the companies that supply cookies are less eager to bid on contracts because of increased costs. When the wholesale price of cookies goes up six cents a box, it may not seem like much. But in the volumes purchased by the council, it can get up into the $40,000 range. Calendar costs are up, too. There's concern about this.

Not realize the council is in a financial bind! —

You might as well not realize the sun comes up every day. The council is asking you to take seriously this problem. It is not a situation that has happened overnight. The council has consistently been cutting back on its staff, which, incidentally, has had a corresponding effect on the types of services it can offer.

In this past year, alone, seven professional staff members (down to 32, some of which are part-time) have been cut. It was the second staff cut in 18 months. Thank God for the 8,000 adult volunteers.

That, Virginia, is why the council has launched its newly instituted "Fee for Belonging." It may be the biggest change in scouting in 62 years. The fee for belonging may be a contribution by cash, check or credit cards. It may also be met by a scout's participation in the calendar or cookie sales programs, or a combination of all of the above. Each girl will be credited with 59 cents for each calendar sold and she will receive 54-cents credit for each box of cookies.

One thing is certain, Virginia, the council always has taken care of its scouts, and the council is fully prepared to make sure that you or any of your young friends who may not be able to afford the $15 will not be denied your place in a troop. UBAC has earmarked $150,000 this fiscal year for those girls unable to furnish the fee.

Yes, Virginia, the council knew it would receive some reaction to this new concept in scouting. Maybe not such dramatic reaction. It's even possible the council will drop in membership (albeit temporary) until everyone realizes the necessity for this move. Certainly other organizations are watching widely.

Delegates to the council are scheduled to meet again Oct. 30. The council waits any suggestions delegates may have to solve the financial plight.

In the meantime, Virginia, the council seeks the indulgence of the friends of scouting. It will be a continuing educational process. But the council knows that if it has time to explain the new concept, you will understand the need.

Surely, Virginia, scouting will continue to survive and make glad the hearts of all young girls.

Youths Shot at Jefferson High School; One 'Critical'

By WILL THOMAS
Post Editor

Two 16-year-old Daly City boys were shot after being accosted by at least one other youth on the Jefferson High School football field shortly before 7:45 p.m. Monday.

Daly City police said they arrested two juveniles, both 16 and residents of the area, about two hours later.

Both were being held for investigation of assault with intent to commit murder, according to Police Sgt. Tom Reese. One was expected to be released, Reese said, while the other was to be sent to Hillcrest Juvenile Hall.

One victim, Martin Guillory, 16, is being treated for five wounds of the abdomen and lower body at the Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco. His condition Monday night, according to police, was "stable."

However, at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, 16-year-old Dennis Spooner was listed in "critical" condition, with a bullet wound in the head, Sgt. Reese said.

The two victims, also residents of the area, were crossing the football field, which is located west of the Jefferson High School buildings when they were confronted, Sgt. Reese said.

There was an exchange of words, he said, and the suspect drew a handgun, possibly a 9-mm. automatic.

Reese said it appeared Guillory was shot once at close range in the stomach and four more times after he turned to run away.

Spooner was shot in the head, apparently as he also turned to flee, Reese said.

The youthful suspects were apprehended without resistance in a car on D Street in adjacent Colma, by police officers from Daly City, Broadmoor, South San Francisco and the sheriff's office. Reese said the father of one of them was also in the car when it was stopped by Harry Lax, Daly City police detective.

Sgt. Reese said Lax was continuing his investigation of the shooting. The authorities have yet to determine precisely what led to the incident.

The boys knew each other, Sgt. Reese said, without speculating whether personal or gang grudges — if either — were involved in the shooting.

Reese said Guillory was able to make his way from the football field to the nearby school's medical room.

Spooner was found later by police on the field.

Police said a neighbor called them, and told responding policemen Sgt. Rick Sequin, Officers Ray Mutter and Dennis Prator he thought he heard gunshots and somebody calling for help in the area of the football field.

Gliding Controversy Continues

The municipal staff in Daly City will study all facets of hang gliding — the availability of adequate liability insurance apparently a key factor to Daly City's future attitude.

Erosion and traffic problems are other areas of concern to be probed.

The instability of the cliffside area in the Palisades region, particularly near Palisades Park, was one of the primary points expressed in opposition to hang gliding in general Monday night.

Residents appear to have mixed reaction to the relatively new sport, practiced by increasing numbers of enthusiasts off the coastal cliffs of Daly City.

The comments ranged from Leland Kozar's "we don't want them there," to William Farrell's "it's a beautiful sport."

Kozar, who said watching the soaring young persons "disconcerts me," also chided the councilmen for considering a proposal from persons who "are not even inhabitants of the city." He called the activity a nuisance.

Erosion was part of Kozar's opposition, and all of Marty Lahiff's concern.

Lahiff said residents in the area have attempted for years to overcome cliffside erosion and home slippage. He said if a concrete take-off area and concrete walks to the take-off site were installed — to avoid killing plants which help minimize erosion — he would "be all for" letting the hang gliding activity continue in the area.

Judge Halts Water Hike

A temporary restraining order prohibiting the city and county of San Francisco from raising water rates to its customers, both in and out of San Francisco, was issued Wednesday by U.S. District Court Judge Lloyd H. Burke.

The order, issued in San Francisco, holds up a water rate hike at 14.5 per cent to San Francisco users and 20.5 per cent to outside customers at least until Sept. 30, when a hearing on a permanent injunction has been scheduled.

Attorney Thomas M. Jenkins filed suit for the Peninsula Water Users Association Tuesday, the day before the increases were to become effective.

The suit charged that the new rates are discriminatory against the outside users and as such violate the 1913 federal Raker Act, which prohibits making money on water from dams on federally-owned lands, and a 1960 agreement that there would be no unjustly discriminatory rates.

A permanent injunction could be effective until the suit is settled.

Councilmen Must Not Vote on RA Matters

Polonsky Rules on Conflict

Two Daly City Redevelopment Agency members have been advised by the city attorney that they should not vote on agency matters.

The opinion by City Atty. Albert Polonsky, announced late Wednesday, came after his investigation of complaints that Paul Hupf and McRobert Stewart have violated "conflict of interest" laws.

Polonsky said at a Wednesday press conference that Hupf appeared to be in clear violation of the Health and Safety Code in purchasing property in the Redevelopment Area.

He said he was convinced McRobert Stewart was not in violation — more than one code concerning the matter is involved, Polonsky said. Stewart works for a firm sited in the redevelopment area.

Polonsky said, however, that because he was concerned about future court interpretation, he also has advised Stewart to abstain from voting on agency matters.

Hupf is a Daly City councilman and Stewart is mayor. The council is the Redevelopment Agency. Polonsky said his opinion is based on conflict laws relating only to the agency.

As city attorney, Polonsky also is the agency's legal advisor.

Polonsky said Hupf's purchase of a building in the project area appeared in "good faith" and was not a "deliberate attempt to evade the law or do an illegal act."

Nonetheless, he said Health and Safety and Government Code sections "do not distinguish between an innocent purchase and a purchase made in an attempt to evade the law."

Polonsky said the situation involving Stewart is governed by different provisions of the law.

"Contrary to some report, the appointment of Charles White on the Advisory Project Area Committee was not a conflict of interest on Mr. Stewart's part," according to Polonsky.

White is Stewart's employer at a lumber company on Junipero Serra Boulevard in the Redevelopment Area. It had been complained that Stewart's act of voting White to membership on the advisory body violated "conflict" laws.

"No conflict of interest can arise, in my opinion," said Polonsky, on the appointment of a person to an advisory board of commission.

He said a number of candidates for the positions were proposed, the voting was secret and "there is not any showing that Mr. Stewart voted for Mr. White."

Polonsky acknowledged that while Stewart "may be"

DC Mayor
McRobert Stewart

in violation of "conflict of interest" provisions in one part of the code, his situation appears also to fall under sections dealing with exceptions.

He said that according to the "Governmental Conflict of Interests Act" exceptions, an employee may vote if the "decision does not have a material economic effect on the employee."

Polonsky added, "Secondly, if the decision affects the employer as a member of the general public to no greater extent than any other member of the public, the employee can vote."

He said "material economic effect" is not defined in the act and, additionally, "there are no guidelines or standards set forth, and each matter must be examined individually against the act."

Furthermore, Polonsky

said, the new "conflicts" legislation did not repeal previous "conflicts" law in Government Code Sections 1090 to 1097.

"Sections 1090 and 1091 of the earlier act provide that certain interests were remote, and the employee could vote, even if his employer was involved, if he was not in a position of management, (and if he) had worked for the employer for three years before becoming a member of the public agency and the employer had 10 or more employees," Polonsky said.

The section appears to govern Stewart in this situation, Polonsky indicated.

Polonsky, noting that he cannot "predict how the courts will interpret the specific provisions of the Governmental Conflict of Interests Act and also reconcile with it the former and still existing law," recommended Stewart not vote.

He said he did not see the fact that only three Redevelopment Agency members could vote, as a problem at this stage.

A Scathing Report on San Mateo County Health Plan

San Mateo County's reputation for having one of the nation's finest mental health programs has been shattered by a report made public Thursday in Sacramento.

The study, the work of Larry Sosowsky, who investigated this county's mental health program while he earned a master's degree from the University of California at Berkeley, involves former state mental hospital patients and the follow-up care they received — or did not receive — when they were released back into this community.

The report covers a 19-month period and, according to Sosowsky's extensive findings, 59 per cent of the 260 patients did not get any treatment in this county after they were sent home from state facilities.

Sosowsky, who spent eight months researching the county's program, used the county's own records from June of 1972 to December of 1973, to formulate his data and conclusions.

He told a press conference that 153 of the 260 former patients received no treatment at all when they returned to this county. He said 107 did.

In examining the history of each patient, Sosowsky said 45 per cent had arrest records and 17 per cent had an arrest record for a crime said to be violent.

Local mental health officials are understandably upset about the report and its implications.

Dr. John Visser, program chief of the county's Community Mental Health Services, said this morning that neither he nor his staff has seen Sosowsky's report.

"I have no idea if his figures are right," Visser said. "We don't keep records in a way comparable to the way the student assembled his data."

Visser did note that, perhaps, the 260 figure could be accurate as a rough total for former patients released back into the county over the 19-month period.

"I can't confirm that but it sounds close," he said.

Visser was angry that the student used the confidential files of the mental health division and then released data publicly before talking about his findings with local officials.

"He owed us the courtesy of at least talking with us first," Visser complained.

Dr. Donald Newman, director of Peninsula Hospital's Community Mental Health Center in Burlingame, said Wednesday that Sosowsky's 59 per cent figure means little if the particulars of the county's program are not clearly defined.

"A 41 per cent treatment record could be excellent," Newman said. "But just saying that 59 per cent didn't receive treatment is just a

Bus System Group Meets Tonight

A County-wide bus transit system is the goal of 35 citizens representing a wide range of Daly City organizations who today announced formation of a Citizens' Committee for a Transit District.

The committee has scheduled its first meeting today at 7:30 p.m. in the Daly City War Memorial Building. The public is encouraged to attend, a spokesman said.

Committee efforts will be to achieve passage of San Mateo County Proposition A at the Nov. 5 election. Elio Fontana, chairman of the committee, said.

Jefferson High School Trustee Al Teglia, will be Vice-Chairman of the committee and Helen Staub, Secretary Treasurer.

The Proposition would establish a San Mateo

County Transit District as authorized by legislation adopted by the State Legislature two months ago.

Governing the district would be a nine member board composed of three County Supervisors; three Councilmen and three public members.

The new district cannot levy property taxes or undertake any extension of BART without a separate voter approval, Fontana explained.

District operations would be financed through federal grants and the existing sales tax on gasoline. The district also may levy a one-half cent sales tax for transit purposes.

The committee has been endorsed by the City Council of Daly City and the County Board of Supervisors.

Annexation: Brisbane Residents Will Have Say

Brisbane residents will be consulted "one way or the other" on whether they want the planned San Bruno Mountain development annexed to their city, Mayor Anji Miller said Thursday.

Mrs. Miller indicated that after consideration of the final development plan and the Environmental Impact Report (EIR) by county supervisors and county planning Commission, the question of annexation will be brought before Brisbane residents either in the form of a referendum or a survey.

The mayor said council members have indicated in the past a desire to hear citizens views on annexation before making a decision.

In a letter to County Planning Dir. Donald Woolfe clarifying Brisbane's position on annexation, Mrs. Miller stated, any official city position regarding annexation of the planned area can be taken only after the county studies the final plan after the Brisbane voters have been consulted.

Mrs. Miller said in the letter that there were certain "pre-judged assumptions" regarding Brisbane and annexation which needed clarification.

In the preliminary EIR submitted to Brisbane, the mayor said, reference was made that Daly City was more inclined to annex the development than was Brisbane.

"We were very surprised to see that reference," Mrs. Miller said. "Brisbane has never said either yes or no to the question of annexation. We consider the question a rather moot point until the entire planning process has been completed."

She said, "we think it's a little unfair to say in the EIR that Daly City is more inclined to annex the development than is Brisbane."

Mrs. Miller said she believes the reference that Daly City was more inclined to annex may have resulted in a resolution passed last year, which stated Brisbane opposed development on about 600 acres of west bay lands.

She said there also may have been some confusion on the council's stated opposition to any development on the quarry on the Brisbane side of the mountain.

"I think these actions were construed by some to mean we were totally against development," the mayor said.

"We never said we oppose development or annexation. The council has never officially taken a position on this."

In her letter to Woolfe, Mrs. Miller said the council has engaged the services of a professional planner "to provide adequate input into the planning and coordinating process at the county level."

The council fully intends to continue this cooperation with the county and LAFCO (Local Agency Formation Commission), she said.

She also told Woolfe the council was pleased that the developer's plans no longer included high density residential housing in Owl and Buckeye Canyons, which are directly adjacent to Brisbane. She said the council wanted these areas of "archaeological and recreational value" preserved.

Although Mrs. Miller promised that Brisbane citizens would be consulted on annexation, she said she is not necessarily in favor of a referendum. She said she was more inclined to poll public sentiment on annexation, by a survey.

The mayor said the council will determine how Brisbane residents will be consulted as planning for the development enters its final stage.

DC Will Not Grant Business Permit to Sports Unlimited

The City Council in Daly City Monday refused to reconsider its Sept. 10 denial of a business license for Sports Unlimited, a Southgate Avenue firm specializing in mechanical games of skill.

Don W. Malnati, the owner-operator, of Foster City, called the business an asset to the community which attracts a "non-rough type of crowd."

Malnati quoted two Daly City policemen as saying the business has caused no problems.

A police report, said by City Mgr. David Rowe to be on file in the city clerk's office, was critical of the firm.

Malnati claimed he was told by police officials that if he were allowed to go into business, others similarly would have to be allowed to do so. He said he had removed pin ball machines at police urging.

He called reports critical of his operation "unfair."

"The complaints," he said, "have been based on people who have not seen my business."

He justified the machines as developing skills and coordination.

Malnati was represented at the hearing to reconsider issuing the license by Patrick Concannon of the Westlake law firm of Friedenbergs & Hedger.

Concannon described the operation as clean, well run, and "not a place for thugs to hang out."

He charged that denial of the license would amount to what he called an "unequal application" of Daly City's ordinances, inasmuch as the same type of device were located at other places of business in the same area — a bowling alley and a pizza firm.

"Why is Mr. Malnati being treated differently?" Concannon asked.

City Atty. Albert Polonsky, whose private law offices are in the same block of the Westlake Shopping Center business, said the council "need not justify a discretionary act."

The difference between Malnati's devices and the others is that the others do not constitute the primary purpose of the premises, while Malnati's do, Polonsky said.

"Our ordinance doesn't differentiate between games of chance or skill," said Polonsky, noting he was referring to mechanical devices activated by coins.

A Windsor Street resident, Elsie Tonelli, said she objected to the location of the business, which she believes does not belong adjacent to a residential area, near churches or where children on the way to and from school might be tempted to spend their quarters.

On the other hand, a girl who said she frequented the place, called it "a really fun place to go." She said there were no kids fighting or loitering and that she thought "the cops play" with the machines also.

Jack Pappas, a nearby resident, said 9 and 10 year olds "shouldn't be there."

The council's motion to deny reconsideration carried with it authority for the city attorney to take necessary legal steps in the matter.

He has said in the past he would attempt to obtain a court order to close the business, if necessary.

In a letter to the city, attorney Friedenbergs, calling the council's earlier action "illegal, discriminatory and without good cause," stated, "We are confident that a court would order a reversal of your action, and award our client damages, should you wrongfully force him to close his business pending a determination by the court."

Bruno Board Rejects 380

By BOB PETERSON

Unexpected action by the San Bruno City Council Monday night could lay to rest the quandary of whether Freeway 380 will be extended through Crestmoor Canyon to Pacifica.

In a 4-1 vote (Councilman George Corey dissenting) the council decided to reject the present California Department of Transportation (CALTRANS) proposal that has created much controversy in both North County cities.

The vote — based on an earlier statement by CALTRANS Deputy Director Burch Bachold — could have the effect of killing the project, or at least putting it far back on the burner.

Bachold, at a recent CALTRANS design hearing in San Bruno, stated that should either of the two affected cities vote not to support the extension, regardless of existing agreements, there probably would not be a project.

Contacted Tuesday morning, Ray Dix, project engineer for the extension, said he was sure CALTRANS would go ahead with its preparation of the final Environmental Impact Statement on the project.

"I doubt any decision will be made on the spot as the result of the vote on whether or not to kill the project," said Dix. "I'm sure it will have a serious effect on the decision."

As a result of the San Bruno Council action, the next move appears to be up to CALTRANS.

City Mgr. Gerald Minford said he would notify the state agency as well as Pacifica and South San Francisco officials of the surprise council action.

A meeting had been scheduled for Wednesday night between council representatives of San Bruno, Pacifica and South San Francisco (the latter two councils publicly favoring the extension) to discuss the intent of putting the matter of 380 extension on the spring 1975 school board ballots.

Councilman John Barnard forced the vote on the issue.

Citing the fact that both Pacifica (on a 3-2 vote) and South San Francisco (unanimously) have urged support of the extension, Barnard said it was time the council made itself heard.

"We are the city most adversely affected and least benefited by this freeway," said Barnard, after reeling off a list of factors that he said prompted his decision.

"The residents want us to accept our responsibility," said Barnard. "How many times do we have to get hit on the head to realize there are not that many people for it?"

Barnard said he had no doubt there was better access to and from the coast needed. He said the freeway would create more development, and if the freeway were not built that development fever may spread to Crestmoor Canyon for housing.

Barnard questioned whether the road would be safe if the construction of it created a severe fog situation. He also said there was little concern in the proposal for the Portola Highlands and Crestmoor area residents of the city.

"Let the other side show up for once," said Councilwoman Marge Kozkowski, in supporting Barnard's motion. It was an apparent reference to the people who favor the extension because freeway meetings have consistently been crammed with opponents of the project.

Councilman Dick Griffith's position has been known for some time. Prior to the vote Tuesday night he was questioning the validity of South San Francisco interest in the planned joint meeting to determine ballot language.

Mayor Tony Governale called the action "hasty," but said he had "no problem with casting a vote on the issue tonight." He said he was concerned that the council had two weeks earlier unanimously agreed to put the issue on the ballot.

Putting the matter to a vote was also Corey's concern and he voted against the rejection of the extension apparently on that basis. "I think it's simply a question of waiting until the vote comes in," he said.

who voted against the rejection, apparently because he wanted to await the outcome of a public vote, said if the proposal is rejected a subsequent ballot would be a "waste of taxpayers money."

Pacifica Councilwoman Grace McCarthy said, "It's regrettable." I realize it's hard for one city to support the needs of another. But I'm one of those who has supported San Bruno. One of the reasons we in Pacifica wanted the extension was to get to the airport. It's as if San Bruno is saying to us 'the airport is ours'."

Sid Lorvan, one of Pacifica's council members who opposed the project, said he was "happy" with the action. "I think it (extension) is undesirable and unsound for the citizens of Pacifica."

Comments Range from Surprise to Disgust

Comments ranged from surprise to disgust as Pacifica and South San Francisco officials reacted today to the San Bruno City Council's rejection of the proposed extension of Interstate 380 from Crestmoor Canyon to the coast.

"At this point, any comment I would have would be unprintable," said Pacifica's Vice Mayor Stan Farer.

Pacifica Mayor Aubrey Lumley said, "Evidently, the San Bruno City Council is afraid of a public ballot, even if it would be in their own community."

Lumley was referring to an earlier action of not only San Bruno, but Pacifica and South San Francisco council's as well, to place the matter of whether residents wanted 380 extended on the Spring 1975 school board ballots.

The initial motion by San Bruno Councilman John Barnard, that led to the 4-1 vote rejecting the California Department of Transportation (CALTRANS) proposal, was in two parts.

In the first half of the motion, Barnard recommended that San Bruno not join in the three-city ballot measure. His second half of the motion was to reject the CALTRANS proposal.

Councilman George Corey,

Gliding

(Continued from Page 1) 18-year Palisades resident, said hang gliding had not been a nuisance, there had been no problem with property, and traffic was minimal.

"I can't see anything wrong with it," he said.

Hang gliders have not caused erosion in the Hillview Court area, another 18-year resident added. Earthquakes and other natural causes have, she said.

She said the gliders turn around near her home. "I enjoy watching them," she said.

Spokesman for the Fellow Feathers Hang Gliding Club explained the sport and the precautions being taken since one person died in the area several months ago.

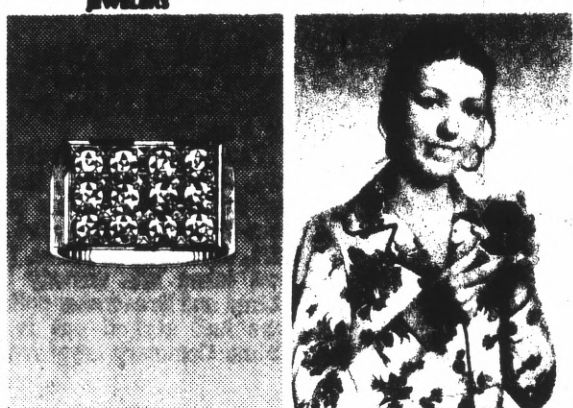

Council concerns centered around insurance availability to protect the city should it negotiate an agreement with Fellow Feathers on hang gliding within the city limits.

Report

(Continued from Page 1) statistic. All kinds of people are released from the state hospitals. Some need treatment and don't seek it. Some don't need it and don't get it. Some don't need it but get it anyway. It's a mixed bag. Some patients being treated here aren't even identified for the state. Our job is to help those people who need help."

Both Visser and Newman were unhappy about the manner in which Solowsky took his findings to state senator, H. L. Richardson (Rep-Arcadia) who then appeared with the student in Sacramento.

JUHSD Affirmative Action

Trustees to Consider Adoption

The Jefferson Union High School Board plans to consider adoption of an affirmative action program next Tuesday, Oct. 1.

Board approval would end nearly a year long struggle to develop a satisfactory program.

A special study session on affirmative action scheduled last night was intended to gather final input and discussion between trustees, administrators, staff and the community before a decision is made.

The board has already passed an affirmative action policy statement, indicating the district's intention to provide equal opportunity for employment, retention and advancement of all people regardless of race, color, creed, national origin, political affiliation, sex, physical handicap or any other factor not directly related to the duties of the district jobs involved.

The probable vote Tuesday will be on what the program consists of and how it will be implemented, based on recommendations of the district's Human Relations Committee and a Citizens-Teachers committee.

There are key differences in the two groups' proposals. For example, the citizens committee wants an achievement of personnel balance by Sept. 1976, while HRC says Sept. 1978. And the citizens committee has been adamant in that a minority affirmative action officer be hired, while HRC suggests that the district's Assistant Superintendent of Personnel be responsible for the program.

Such differences have resulted in a running dispute between the citizens committee and the school board, ranging from polite disagreement to blunt accusations whenever the topic is discussed.

26 Held in County Drug Raids

A day long sweep beginning in Belmont Thursday morning and ending in Daly City at 3:30 a.m. Friday netted 26 people, including 15 women, on a variety of narcotics charges.

Thirty-three officers from seven police departments, the Federal Drug Enforcement Task Force and the County-Wide Narcotics Task Force raided some nine houses and apartments in Belmont, Burlingame, Millbrae, San Bruno, South San Francisco, and Daly City. Lt. Don Coslett, chief of the county wide narcotics task force, reported.

One man escaped from a home at 1149 Old County Road, Belmont, by leaping over a fence about noon, touching off a wild chase involving the entire Belmont

Police Department, county narcotics agents and the sheriff's helicopter. Coslett reported.

At one time during the pursuit of Danny Neuman, 25, a resident of the home wanted for the sale of amphetamines and of marijuana, Belmont police were about to arrest him when undercover agents until they were warned by radio, "They're on our side."

Coslett said the raids will continue, and the arrests of about a dozen additional persons are expected, both men and women.

The raids, which were the climax of an investigation began some two months ago when undercover agents were able to infiltrate a Daly City end of what Coslett described as a "loosely knit ring," — some $114,000 worth of narcotics buys have been made.

These include four ounces of heroin worth $3,200; three ounces of cocaine worth $3,000, some 12,000 amphetamine pills worth $2,000 and 25 pounds of marijuana, worth $3,500.

Among those arrested were two women who drove catering trucks. Michelle Heinrich, 30, of San Francisco was arrested outside of the South San Francisco catering firm where she was employed. She was charged with the sale of marijuana, and later released on $1,000 bail.

Two College of San Mateo students, one a co-ed and one a male, were among those taken into custody.

Assigned to the raid, Coslett reported were the entire county narcotics task force, the Belmont Police Force, one officer from the San Mateo Police Force, two officers from Burlingame, two from San Bruno, two from Pacifica; seven from South San Francisco, including two detectives; five from Daly City, including a sergeant and one detective, one from Brisbane, two from the federal agency and all of the county agency.

Those arrested were booked at both the county jail in Redwood City and in the Daly City city jail on a variety of charges, some only for visiting a place where narcotics are used or sold.

One man, John R. Watkins, 21, of 1307 Notre Dame Ave., Belmont, who was charged with possession of marijuana, sale of marijuana, visiting a place where narcotics are used and conspiracy, is wanted in Ohio for armed robbery, Coslett reported.

Booked at the county jail in Redwood City, in addition to Mrs. Heinrich and Watkins, were Patricia Ann Kiss, 25, a catering driver of Apt. 6, 303 Pine St., South San Francisco; Michelle Rene Serrano, 20, a housewife of 8 Hermosa lane, South San Francisco; Deborah Marie Passetti, 22, an electronics production worker of 691 Rollins Road, Burlingame; Ann Elizabeth Nielson, 18, a College of San Mateo student of Apt. 6, 621 Wessex Way, Belmont; Ana Maria Liendo, 20, of 691 Rollins Road, Burlingame, a supervisor for an electronics firm; Lance Alan Mann, 23, a College of San Mateo student of 2809 Rivera Drive, Burlingame; Carl J. Serrano, 22, a service station attendant of 185 Garden Lane, Millbrae; Jay L. Dechland, 25, a machinist who lives at the Old County Road home in Belmont; Carol Marie Parriera, 18, an electronics assembler from San Jose; Marc M. Peach, 19, a stereo salesman from San Francisco; Cyn-dina Lynn Janis, 20, a cocktail waitress who lives at the Belmont home; and Jack Shigeki Slaght, 26, a laborer, also of Belmont.

Booked at the Daly City jail were Jean Lauhati, 26, of 218 Terrace, San Bruno; Daniel Beckman, 31, of 982 Nora Way, Apt. 1, South San Francisco; Miriam Holliday, 24, of 107 Chapman Ave., Apt. 1, South San Francisco; William Leonor, 24, and his wife, Roberta, 25, of 107 Chapman Ave. Apt. 2, South San Francisco, two sisters, Paz, 18, and Fey Ramirez of 6690 Mission St., Daly City; Colleen McEvoy, 23, of the same address; Pam Garcia of 64 Los Olivos, Daly City; Ronnie Hannehan, 28, of 281 Pierce St., Daly City; Dennis Montgomery, 22, of San Francisco, and Jeffery Johnson, 22, of 132 Peek Lane, South San Francisco.

Principals Are Preparing Intramural Sports Plan

Principals from Ben Franklin, Fernando Rivera and Colma Intermediate Schools are preparing a proposal to ask the Jefferson Elementary School Board for approximately $7,500 to implement an intramural sports program at their schools.

The after-school program, available for all interested students, would include soccer, basketball, football and volleyball. Colma Principal Joel Franz, in introducing the idea to the board at its Sept. 18 meeting, said the cost would be about $2,500 per school.

An additional cost would be incurred if it is determined that a bus is needed to transport the children after school.

The trustees seemed supportive of the proposal, with board member Al Schwarzbach calling athletics "part and parcel of any child's education."

President Beverly Forrester told the principals to draw up a program, with figures on the estimated number of children participating, and present it to the board at its next meeting. Mrs. Forrester even offered to call a special meeting if the proposal were ready earlier.

In other matters at the meeting:

— Supt. Herbert Hemington announced that Christopher Columbus School will receive $31,000 through the Early Childhood Education Program. Colma elementary and Roosevelt are the only other two schools in the district under the program. Official approval of the funds will occur at the October meeting of the State Department of Education.

— Dr. Hinton Stratton revealed the JESD attendance figures, showing a current enrollment of 8,137. There were 7,696 students on the first day of school, indicating a rise of 441 in attendance since then. School closed in June with a total enrollment of 8,411, leaving the district with a drop of 226 students. The district had projected a drop of 250, Stratton said.

— The board voted to increase the salary of Robert Hughley, the new Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) Project Director, by six per cent and also give him a $300 stipend for an advanced degree, for a total salary of $27,860.

The special action was necessitated because the school board overlooked increasing the director's salary at the previous meeting.

— The board recommended Raymond Milton for appointment as Personnel Commissioner. The recommendation goes to the executive officer of the State Personnel Board.

Milton is a former trustee of the Jefferson Union High School District. Milton would succeed Mrs. William Ken-nough, whose term as commissioner expires Dec. 1.

JESD Parents, Staff, Trustees Disagree

Debate Looms on Combination Classes

Combination classes in the Jefferson Elementary School District became the subject of an hour long, impromptu debate at the Sept. 18 board meeting.

And when the discussion had concluded, the only clear consensus was that the disagreement exists between parents, trustees and the administration over such classes.

The squabble started casually enough when Associate Superintendent for Personnel and Instruction Dr. Vinton Stratton remarked that there would be 40 combination classes in the district this year, compared to the 35 last term.

Combination classes are those in which students in consecutive grade levels are put together in one class. At JESD, almost all the elementary schools have at least one combination class from kindergarten through sixth grade.

As a result of the exchange at the meeting, the administration quickly huddled together the next morning and decided to hire three aides for the K-1 and the first and second grade combination classes, for the purpose of helping those children needing special attention the most.

On a longer range basis, Superintendent Herbert Hemington also said the administration intends to monitor the combination classes, and take those results into consideration when plans for staffing are made for next year.

At least four key issues were brought up during the meeting.

One was whether combination classes in the lower grade levels were better than having them in the upper grades. Hemington favored such classes at the primary level, saying that most other school districts in the state felt the same way.

However, both Board President Beverly Forrester and Trustee Al Schwarzbach disagreed. Mrs. Forrester feared that a child might be held back in a K-1 situation because of the time a teacher would have to give instructing kindergarten students on such non-academic matters as "tying one's shoe."

A second problem was that some combination classes didn't meet until after school had begun. Hemington viewed this as the biggest concern of the parents, admitting that it is not a good situation and that it is hard for the teachers and children to adjust.

Hemington did, though, defend the late shift, saying that it is not possible to know the exact class size until after school opens.

One of the parents in attendance indicated the problems a teacher faces who is prepared to teach a certain grade, and then has to revamp all those plans once the classes are combined.

A third point raised was the "after effect" a combination class would have on the child. For example, a third grade student could perform well in a third-fourth grade combination, but when that child enters the fourth grade the next year, he could be turned off by the repetitiveness of the lessons.

Such a case was told to the board by one woman, who said "you lost a very good student due to that after effect."

Vegetable Stand Permit May Be Revoked

A man who had been operating a fruit and vegetable stand from a pickup truck at a parking lot on Reina Del Mar and the Coast Highway might have his permit revoked by the Pacifica Planning Commission.

The commission agreed at its meeting to hold a revocation hearing Nov. 4, because the operator, Jerry Verducci, was not in compliance with the conditions outlined in his use permit. The planning staff said. However, it was revealed that the lifting of the permit may be a mere formality, since Verducci apparently has left Pacifica, although he did leave his truck behind at the same location.

Commissioner Joseph Greene said he was told "second hand" that Verducci moved to Lake Tahoe two weeks ago.

Attempts by the planning staff to contact Verducci have been futile. Planning Administrator Jim Miller said they hadn't heard from him for 2 1/2 months.

Miller also said the police have been notified that the truck is in poor repair, apparently not properly licensed, and that it may technically be an abandoned vehicle.

Verducci was granted the permit for the sale of fruits and vegetables from the truck April 15, subject to certain conditions. According to Miller, he had assured the commission that the truck would be removed each night by 5:30.

In other matters, the commission:

Adopted a resolution recommending that the city council amend the Pacifica General Plan from low density residential to retail commercial land use on San Pedro Terrace at 332 San Pedro Ave. The action was necessary because of a recent state law that requires that the zoning of the property and the general plan must conform. The property, belonging to Charles A. Fisher, was zoned commercial, but the general plan called for low density development.

Approved three variances permitting construction of additions to residences. The applicants were Richard Baudendistel, 457 San Pablo Terrace; Peter J. Lucia, 211 Avalon Dr.; and Ernest W. Pezzola, 294 Seaside Dr.

Approved a negative declaration for the proposed improvements to the Linda Mar Shopping Center. The action followed a city study that found no potential adverse impacts of significance which would occur if the project as proposed were to be completed.

Among the improvements in the shopping center, between Linda Mar Boulevard and San Pedro Creek, include addition of floor area; an enclosed mall connection for some of the shops; and the removal of the doctor's and optometrist's offices to widen the access drive from the parking lot to the access road at the site's boundary.

Continued to Dec. 16 a decision to reclassify 7.49 acres for the construction of a project consisting of 136 two-bedroom condominium units in four buildings, at a parcel located on the north side of Fassler Avenue, across from Crespi Elementary School. The applicant, David E. Coldoff, requested the continuance.

Continued to Oct. 7 a request for a site development permit by Marguerite

Washington to a plant and gift shop at 630 Palmetto Ave. Ms. Washington asked for the continuance in a letter to the commission. Were informed that a use permit request by James E. Roof of Whaley and Associates, Inc., to construct a mini-warehouse storage unit at 1295 Palmetto, was withdrawn due to economic conditions.

Pacifica's Parks, Beaches and Recreation Commission wants the city to impose more controls on private use of city buildings. Those primarily involved are the two recreation centers at Fairmont Park and Oddstad Hall in the Linda Mar area. The commission studied the matter Sept. 17 and approved a new policy on use of the buildings. They want outside users, such as those holding wedding receptions, fairs or carnivals, to pay for the cost of building supervision. Under the proposal, a PB&R employee would open the hall, watch its use, and close it.

Another proposed provision would increase the refundable deposit for building use from $10 to $50, on the theory that if any damage were done, $10 would be inadequate to compensate for the loss.

The PB&R also studied a proposal to take over the Sharp Park rifle range and expand it to include big-bore competition.

DC Scouts To Dance At Mall

The Order of the Arrow dance team will be featured at the Sept. 28-29 Scouting Showcase to be held on the Serramonte Shopping Center Mall.

The dance team is scheduled to move around the entire mall area, giving short performances, at 15 minute intervals, according to the special event chairman Don Zyski.

The central fountain will present "America" in three acts, with life-size "Cub-pets" of Pack 276, coordinated by Mrs. Maura Paulson. The play will be presented every half hour on the half hour, starting at 10:30 a.m. Saturday and 12:30 in the afternoon Sunday.

Troop No. 276, San Bruno, will show slides of their Canadian trip. Ken Dennis is Scoutmaster.

Troop No. 179, Jim Fosberg scoutmaster, will set up his planetarium study of the stars; troop No. 148, Don Davis scoutmaster, will recruit new troop members.

Pack No. 296, Mrs. A. B. Olson cubmaster, will participate; pack No. 282 will invite the public to pan for gold.

Pack No. 148 will have their wheel of fortune and pack No. 80 will show their French review with Cubs dressed as can-can dancers.

The Explorer Post of Daly City, with Sgt. Bob Sojo, will display its police van.

The local celebration of Scouting, unique within San Mateo County, was planned by (Don) Zyski's committee which included Jack Hayhurst, Frank Arbues, Ted Lloria, William Proctor, Lloyd Sears and Roz Morino.

The Fourth Generation

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reis of Daly City were presented with their first great-grandchild by their grandchildren Marcia and Kenneth Schneider of Santa Clara.

The boy was born Sept. 9 and weighed 5 1/2 pounds.

No Rodli, Papan Agreement

Candidates Slow to OK Campaign Pact

Two months ago the candidates for San Mateo County's 19th District State Assembly seat each announced that he planned to voluntarily follow Proposition 9, which sets stringent rules and limits for campaign expenditures and fund disclosures.

At first glance, the tentative agreement seemed honorable enough — especially since Proposition 9 does not become law until after the November general election.

So far, however, no definite agreement has been reached between incumbent Assemblyman Louis J. Papan, D-Daly City, and his Republican challenger, Gilbert Rodli Jr.

Furthermore, it is becoming increasingly doubtful that an agreement might ever be reached between the two candidates.

Meanwhile, time is running out with only six weeks remaining in their campaigns leading to the November election.

"People are fed up with politics as usual and have demanded major changes," said Rodli when he first proposed the Proposition 9 agreement last July.

"I certainly agree that our campaigns should be conducted in the spirit of Proposition 9," Papan responded.

Following the beginning verbal agreement — certainly cordial as far as politics go — campaign managers for the two candidates held several meetings in an attempt to hammer out a definitive agreement. So far they have failed.

And the initial cordial agreement between the two candidates has since turned somewhat sour. Each now accuses the other of "stalling" a completed agreement to follow.

"At this stage it is still up in the air," said Rodli.

"Negotiators have not completed an agreement and I will reserve any comment until an agreement is reached," said Papan.

Despite the obvious impasse, both candidates continue to insist that they are hopeful that an agreement will still be reached.

Ironically, both Papan and Rodli admit they were at first opposed to Proposition 9.

Both said they opposed the political reform act because much of Proposition 9 "was already law."

Following overwhelming voter approval of Proposition 9 last June, both men apparently cast off their previous opposition to the measure. Now they say they support it.

All that remains is for the two candidates to make a definite agreement to follow it.

City Hall Work Bids Rejected

South San Francisco's City Council has voted to reject all bids for a new City Hall wing, and to re-advertise for bids.

The action delays for another month council hopes for a larger chamber next year. The council is meeting temporarily at the Orange Avenue Library.

Tyson Construction of Redwood City had the low bid of $553,000, but withdrew it owing to a mistake in omission of $86,417 for masonry brick. This left the low bid, that of Harrod and Williams of Sunnyvale, at $624,882 — 38 per cent over the architect's estimate of $400,000.

Architect Edward H. de Wolf blamed the discrepancy on the subcontractors on the subcontracts for heating and venting, plumbing and electrical, whose bids totaled $23,000 as against the $100,000 estimate. At least 10 local subcontractors who failed to bid could have given lower bids, he asserted.

"We would like a second chance to get interest stirred up," de Wolf told the council.

The new wing would facilitate enlargement of a number of City Hall offices, and would tie in with remodeling of the present building, in progress all summer long. The entire project would result in preserving the unique architectural elements of a half-century old building while adapting it for modern use.

The council, meanwhile, authorized the staff to advertise for bids on air conditioning the City Hall, police building and Grand Avenue Library at an estimated cost of $80,000.

City Mgr. Ed Alario admitted, "we goofed," as he asked the council to add $25,000 to the paramedics budget — bringing it up to $115,130. He explained both the fire department and the communications division thought the other had budgeted for the communications equipment for the paramedics' operation.

Alario said San Mateo County is paying $35,000 in a revenue-sharing grant and Kaiser Hospital is paying $14,133, leaving a net budgeted cost of $65,997 — still less than the $80,000 budgeted for the South San Francisco paramedics plan.

'Parent' Loses Battle of the Dictionaries

It was almost a battle of the dictionaries, with a judge's copy holding the final say: a South San Francisco man isn't a parent—at least for the purposes of an election designation.

William M. Moffatt's attempt to be listed as a businessman and parent on the Nov. 5 ballot in the South San Francisco Unified School District trustees election provided for an amusing hearing last Tuesday before Superior Court Judge G. Brooks Ice.

County Clerk Marvin Church had struck the "parent" as an occupational designation on the ballot, sending Moffatt's attorney, Charles E. Chase, to the library and a review of dictionaries.

He provided definitions of vocation from three different dictionaries which he said both directly and indirectly states that being a parent is an occupation.

Not so, rebutted Deputy Dist. Atty. Howard Ridley, expanding the definition from one of the dictionaries cited by Chase. A vocation, argued Ridley, is one's general trade and business in which a person is engaged and pursues for a livelihood.

"I imagine we can get as many definitions as there are dictionaries," said Judge Ice. A definition should be based "on the most common usage and the way people have come to regard it," he added.

"The court must ascertain the definition which most clearly defines the term in light of what the public has accepted as its meaning," the judge went on.

Then he noted from a copy of his dictionary the definitions of occupation, profession and vocation, and noted that his dictionary says that a vocation is irregular occupation, while an occupation is an "activity which serves as one's regular line of livelihood."

"This is what I believe is intended by the legislative statute," Judge Ice said.

But that wasn't the end. "The question isn't whether the petitioner (Moffatt) is entitled to use the word parent, but are the women (his four opponents) entitled to use the word housewife or homemaker? But that isn't before the court."

Exploitation of County Farm Workers Alleged

Between 4,000 and 5,000 agricultural and floral workers on the Coastside are living in old shacks without water and sanitary facilities, Kathy Gilligan of Daly City, and San Mateo County coordinator for the United Farm Workers' Union, charged Thursday night.

Speaking at a meeting of the county's Human Relations Commission in Redwood City, she asserted that about half are in the floral industry and half work on farms in the Half Moon Bay and Pescadero areas.

"You have the power to investigate this," she challenged the commission, saying that substandard housing is the worst problem faced by the county's farm workers, although many of them are paid substandard wages.

Commissioner Thomas C. Taylor, an official with the state Department of Labor, said that a provision in the law allows a grower to pay less than the minimum wage of $2 an hour if workers are hired on "a piecemeal basis."

Her charge brought an immediate response from Commissioner Enrico Romano, who said he has lived all his life on the Coastside and knows of no such conditions.

He challenged Ms. Gilligan to name a specific ranch.

"Where are the places?" Romano asked. "I have lived there all my life, and some of these people live better than I do. What ranches are you talking about? I have to see this myself. I'm not saying that there are not some. There might be a few places."

Commissioner Andrew Dei Rossi said some ranchers employ about 50 workers in the peak season and offer them nice places to live.

"But he has no control. These people live a lot better than in Mexico."

"That's no answer," Taylor retorted.

Commissioner Susan

Smith asked if a complaint had ever been filed. "I would like to see it," she said.

It was finally agreed to allow Commissioner Herbert Harrison, chairman of the commission's housing committee, to interview the people in depth, and report back to the commission at its next meeting.

Ms. Gilligan said the United Farm Workers are facing the greatest crisis in the union's history because contracts won in 1970 in grape vineyards were lost last year.

She charged that the Teamsters' Union is spending $110,000 a month on TV advertising promoting grapes.

"It is no use for us to strike forever, unless the people in cities know what is happening. We just want the workers to be allowed to choose their own union. We know it won't work this year. That is why we have pickets in front of markets in San Mateo, Redwood City and Daly City."

She told the commission the union now has three representatives in the county.

HRC Requests Women Be Appointed to Commission

San Mateo County Human Relations Commission chairman Robert Jacobs this week asked the county Board of Supervisors to appoint some women to the commission.

"Don't overload the commission with a lot of blacks; don't overload it with a lot of Chicanos. Just load it with good, hard-working citizens. I would hope we get over the notion we need minorities to solve minority problems," Jacobs said.

He noted that the commission membership, presently down to nine, only one of whom is a woman, could function well as either a 12-member or a 15-member commission.

"Our greatest problem is getting productive manpower," Pacifica Police Chief Mel Nelson told the supervisors at a joint luncheon meeting Wednesday of the board and the commission.

"You mean people power," Board of Supervisors Chairwoman Jean Fessler corrected.

Gloria Steinem to Speak at Confab

Gloria Steinem, editor of Ms. Magazine, will discuss "The Business of Women" Oct. 5, in the garden court at the Sheraton Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

Ms. Steinem's talk will culminate the two-day conference how's business? A program is designed for enterprising women seeking a livelihood on their own rather than as employees.

Ms. Steinem will be in San Francisco to accept, on behalf of the Ms. staff, the outstanding woman owned business award which is being awarded by advocates for women to Ms. Magazine for its success as measure by profits, managerial competence and market penetration.

Few persons are aware of the Ms. business phenomena and the contributions that this new management style can make towards the greater humanization of business. Ms. Steinem will discuss Ms. Magazine and the importance of women owning their own businesses.

Advocates For Women is the nation's only women's economic development corporation and is jointly sponsoring the How's Business? conference with Asian, Inc., Golden State Business League and Pact, Inc. (Department of Commerce funded business development centers). The program will benefit advocates for women's business development program to help finance counseling services and financial assistance for women business owners.

The conference registration is $50 for both days and includes lunches and the Saturday awards banquet. Tickets for the Stein/ Ms. Magazine awards banquet are $25. Registration and tickets are available at conference headquarters or phone: (415) 922-7150.

GARDEN CLUB OPENING

The Price of SSF Parking May Double

A public hearing on doubling the parking meter fee in downtown South San Francisco will be held at 3 p.m., Sept. 30, at City Hall.

According to John Penna, chairman of the Parking Place Commission, a fee increase from five cents to 10 cents an hour is proposed. The fee on all-day lots would go up from 25 cents to 50 cents a day.

Use of pennies will be eliminated. At present, the meters are keyed for a penny every 12 minutes, and a nickel for an hour. The proposal is to use only nickels and dimes — the latter buying a full two hours.

"The biggest source of complaints," Penna said,

"comes from those who have put a penny in the meter, do their shopping and come back to find a tag on their car. The nickel would give them a half-hour to do their shopping, thus eliminating some of that constant worrying."

The downtown parking district needs additional income, Penna said, to meet the increase interest which comes as the bonds near retirement, in 1984. In addition, the district has been experiencing increased costs in salary, lighting and paving. If money is left over, the commissioners hope to expand the parking lots and walkways.

Friends Book Fair At Westlake Mall

Two major events will be presented by The Friends of the Daly City Library this week: their first book review of the 1974-75 season and their Fall book fair.

Samuel Chandler, city librarian and author of "Gateway to the Peninsula", who has selected the theme "The Gift of the Discontent", will review works of three noted early California women writers at 10 a.m., Sept. 26, in the Coral Room of the Westlake Public Library, Mrs. H. C. Kincaid, book review chairwoman, invites the public to attend.

The Friends' Fall book fair will be held Sept. 28, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Westlake Shopping Center Mall.

According to Mrs. Alvin Schwarzbach, book fair chairwoman, used books of a wide variety (fiction, non-fiction, hard-back, paperback, adults' and children's), records (popular and classical), and sheet music will be sold. Among the non-fiction books are many text and reference books covering diversified fields of interest, including language arts, psychology, business and public administration, accounting, mathematics, science, education and child development. "How-to" books are some of the additional offerings.

The collection includes books written in Spanish, French, German, Russian, Greek, and oriental languages.

Silent auctions of unusual books will be held from 11 a.m. to 12 p.m., and from 2-3 p.m.

Assisting Mrs. Anthony Giammona, chairwoman of book pricing, have been Mrs. Schwarzbach, Mrs. Emmett Tierney, publicity, President Mrs. John Connolly, Mrs.

Samuel Mikulin, Mrs. Klaus Tschorsnig, and Helen Nerbovig. Mrs. Tierney will co-chair fair day with Mrs. Schwarzbach. Boy Scout Troop 369 has volunteered to help set-up and close the fair.

Proceeds will be used for the benefit of the public library. A special current project of The Friends is the furnishing and equipping of a community cultural room in the new Serramonte Library now under construction in Gellert Park.

Mater Dolorosa Parish Festival Slated Oct. 24

Plans are well under way for the Mater Dolorosa Parish Festival, according to Bernard Eichhorn, one of the six co-chairmen organizing the event.

Festivities will be held on the Mater Dolorosa school grounds in South San Francisco October 24, 25 and 26 and 27. A special "Kid's Day" will kick off the event from 3 to 5 p.m. on Oct. 24. This year's theme of "Harvest Moon" will be carried out in all the decor.

Gordon noted that, "We at the parish are indeed heartened by the overwhelming response we have had by our parishioners to help make this festival one of the most successful yet. Many of these people have been working on their projects throughout the summer."

"We would like to make this event a real community activity," added Fr. Gordon, who encouraged residents from neighboring communities to join in our festivities.

Women's Rights

Wow! What a book. "Not in God's Image" tells the whole sordid story of the oppression of women throughout history.

Here we see the Greek hero of the Odyssey commanding his son to slay a whole courtyard full of his slave women, because they were not true to him during his absence of 20 years.

Here we learn that from ancient times women were blamed for raising the "evil" of the great jar that "scattered the evils within it and laid up harsh troubles for men." Hence a Greek writer advised his son, "Don't let any woman dazzle you with her decked-out rump; behind the twaddle, she's after your barn; anyone who trusts a woman is trusting thieves."

Plato berated the Spartan men because they left their women "unregulated." He wrote "the very half of the race which is generally predisposed by its weakness to undue secrecy and craft — the female sex — has been left to its disorders by the mistaken concession of the legislator. . . it would be better from the point of view of the good of the state, to submit this matter to the revision and correction and devise a set of institutions for both sexes alike."

The philosophy among men that held that women were not capable of fidelity or even loyalty grew through the Roman era and colored the foundations of the whole feudal system leading to such protective devices as chastity belts and to writs that deprived women of the right to hold property or to inherit their fathers' land.

The man of the Middle Ages looked to his theologians, and was assured by them that women were inferior to men and should always be kept that way. The great St. Augustine told him, " . . . but separately, as helpmate, the woman herself alone is not the image of God; whereas the man alone is the image of God as full and completely as when the woman is joined with him."

Out of such theology grew such advice as, "When you see your wife commit an offense don't rush at her with insults and violent blows; rather, first correct the wrong lovingly and pleasantly, and sweetly teach her not to do it again so as not to offend God, injure her soul, or bring shame upon herself and you."

"But if your wife is of a servile disposition and has a crude and shifty spirit, so that pleasant words have no effect, scold her sharply, bully and terrify her. And if this still doesn't work . . . take up a stick and beat her soundly, for it is better to punish the body and correct the soul than to damage the soul and spare the body."

With the dawning of the Renaissance, many leaders moved to upgrade the status of women. Martin Luther wondered if the practices of his day allowed women to progress toward a "saved state." He wrote that a woman should not be ashamed of her sex for God fashioned her body to have and to rear children.

Thus he wrote, "Men have broad shoulders and narrow hips and accordingly they possess intelligence. Women have narrow shoulders and broad hips. Women ought to stay at home; the way they were created indicates this, for they have broad hips and a wide fundament to sit upon, keep house and bear and raise children."

In their "Not in God's Image," Julian O'Faolain and Laura Martines, show that from the Renaissance to the present the state of women has been constantly changing. Yet, through the days of the Puritan ethic to the present, differences in abilities and differences in status between men and women have persisted. Even during the debate over the matrimonial laws of England that were formulated in 1857, men said, "The natural position of a woman is inferiority to man. Amen!"

That these laws and others did not correct age-old inequalities, sparked what O'Faolain and Martines call "reform at an accelerated rhythm."

In this reform they find that women have resisted their own emancipation. They find many ready to trade equality for "the sort of appearance that fashion demands" and for marriage and a "meal ticket." But there are not "enough rewards to go around" and after women see their role as wife and mother is like "leprechauns gold: disappointing in the long run."

If you missed the Mary's Help Hospital booth at the Festival of Good Causes in Stonestown yesterday you still have an opportunity to stop by and greet some of the volunteers today.

The booth, emblazoned with the motto, "Because We Care" has several eloquent posters which show guild members in action in the hospital helping the staff and patients at Mary's Help. Posters depicting the work of volunteers in the telecare program, the dental clinic, manning the gift shop, providing patient services and creating handmade gifts for the Christmas boutique, tell the story of the guild better than words.

Friends who donate to the work of the guild when they visit the booth will be eligible for some lovely gifts which will be awarded on October 3, during the Serramonte Day Program.

LADIES with reservations for the "Luncheon is Served" being sponsored by the Westlake Catholic Women are reminded that the benefit will be held tomorrow at noon in the Our Lady of Mercy Parish Hall.

Persons wishing more information about the event are asked to call Mrs. Joseph Vollert, 756-2957, or Mrs. Michael Lloyd, 994-1646.

SATURDAY is the day for bargain hunting in the Westlake Mall.

The members of the Daly City Friends of the Library will hold a book fair in the shopping center beginning at 10 a.m. and running until 5 p.m.

The fair will feature books of all kinds plus records and sheet music.

Members of the guild will prepare for the day on the mall amid hundreds of used books by attending a book review tomorrow morning at 10 a.m. in the Coral room of the Westlake Library.

Samuel Chandler, the City Librarian, has selected the works of Ina Coolbrigh, Helen Hunt Jackson and Gertrude Atherton to illustrate his topic, "The Gift of Discontent."

Mrs. Klaus Tschorsnig will be the hostess at a coffee hour which will precede the book review. Reservations will be taken during the morning gathering for a no-host luncheon to honor Chandler. The luncheon will be held at the Boar's Head following the review.

SCOUTERS in this area are very excited about the big "Scouting Showcase" which will be on display this Saturday and Sunday in the Serramonte Shopping Center Mall.

Scout units from the North Peninsula will be on hand to tell scouting's story with camping displays, gold panning demonstrations, scout craft exhibits and a series of playlets to be given on the fountain stage depicting the history of our country.

Cub Scouts, inside life size puppets, will take to the stage at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday and give a 15 minute play every half hour thereafter with the final presentation at 5 p.m. Saturday. On Sunday the young actors will give their first show at 12:30 p.m. and the final showing will begin at 4:30 p.m. Fifteen minute plays will be given on the hour and the half hour. All performers will be from pack 276.

Pack 80 will entertain visitors with a French Review and other units will be demonstrating first aid, cooking and handicraft.

THIS FRIDAY and Saturday will be the last opportunity for localities to see their Pacifica neighbors in Cactus Flower.

Tickets, costing $2 for adults and $1.25 for high school students, will be on sale each evening at 8:15 at the box office of the Oddstad Park Center, 1000 block of Crespi drive.

TROOP RALLY Night for Daly City Girl Scouts is being planned for Sept. 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the "old" Westlake Club House on Lake Merced Blvd. in Daly City.

The rally has been planned by the Daly City Girl Scout Association President Mrs. Margaret Connolly to help parents understand the newly instituted "fee for belonging" which has been designed to help relieve the financial distress of the Girl Scout program.

According to Mrs. James Morino the new fee has been the cause of some confusion within the families of scouts and the rally is presented to help explain the situation and to allay any "panic" that the first announcements may have caused.

"To make a long story short; what people need to know right now is 1—don't panic; it won't be that expensive, and 2—come to the troop rally night for a full and complete explanation," Mrs. Morino explained.

THERE IS STILL time to purchase luncheon tickets for the Mary's Help Hospital Guild Day at Serramonte Shopping Center Luncheon and Fashion show.

The Oct. 3 celebration and benefit will be highlighted by the presence of KNBR's Frank Dill, the master of ceremonies and the presentation of some beautiful fall fashions from the Serramonte stores.

For details about reservations call Mrs. Louise Dowdle 731-5954.

"EXPO ITALIANO" is the title for this year's Italian Night celebration at Our Lady of Mercy Parish on Oct. 11.

Mrs. Albert Modena is the chairwoman of the Westlake Catholic Women's committee for the party and Alfred Diodati heads the committee from the Westlake Catholic Men. Assisting Mrs. Modena is Mrs. Harry Kanelopoulos. Reservations chairwomen are Mrs. Charles Boerio, 755-7834, and Mrs. Ed Carey, 992-2019.

The evening will include dancing to the music of the Keynotes and a buffet at 11 p.m. in the parish hall.

MRS. NEMER GONZALEZ, who has been out of town caring for her four neices and nephews while her sister recovered from surgery, reports that the new Latin Club Queen is busy working hard for the group.

Lovely Grace Caranza received her crown from past Latin Club Queen Vicky Valiente during a recent evening party and dance in the Holy Angels Parish Hall. Bethel Galvez was named first princess in Queen Grace's court and Janie Thomas was named second princess.

Special presentations were made to Lt. Phil LaBruzzo and the Officer Bill Program; Mrs. Lee Lane and her Red Shoe School of Dance in Millbrae; Mrs. Janet Wilson for her musical contribution to the Latin Club and to Mr. and Mrs. Delfino for the lovely flowers which filled the hall the night of the crowning ceremonies. In addition to awards made to the above, and to your truly, special commendation was awarded to two members of the media who were unable to attend, Lola Garcia of the Record and Jose Mendoza Quiroz of TV Channel 20.

MRS. JANICE McCraney of Pacifica was hostess for the first fall meeting of the alumnae chapter of Alpha Iota sorority.

Appliance Breakdowns Can Be Costly

Put Repair Costs in Family Budget

By LORENE BEASLEY,
Editor of the
BBB Barometer

Is the repairman in your budget?

Major Appliance Consumer Action Panel (MACAP), a unique consumer organization formed by the appliance industry to represent owners in their dealings with appliance manufacturers, marketers and repairmen, but which operates independently, advises "There's a flaw in your family budget if it includes the butcher, baker and candlestick maker, but not your appliance repairman."

Today the housewife depends upon her appliance to cook and store food, to wash and dry clothes, cool the home, heat the water and reduce the drudgery of cleaning up the kitchen. She relies so much upon her home appliances it is often an emergency when one fails and she can not receive prompt and satisfactory service.

Many owners can not repair appliances. Others simply do not have the time to do the repairs. The service charge for re-connecting a loose wire may seem high, but the consumer depends upon the repairman to know which wire is loose and what must be done to fix the appliance so that it will work properly and safely.

Avoid do-it-yourself repairs which could cause damage and harm to yourself and your home. If the appliance is still under warranty, do-it-yourself repairs could cause the loss of the warranty benefits.

Get the "diagnosis" and cost estimates of work to be done in writing to prevent possible future misunderstanding. Service call costs can often be saved by taking the smaller appliances to qualified repair shops. However, do not expect an estimate or same-day service. It is likely the appliance will have to be disassembled to determine what needs to be done to it.

When you feel you have been overcharged, remember that major appliance repairs usually must be made in your home. This means that the repairman must bring a truckload of tools and spare parts, estimated at a minimum of $3,500 in value, to your home to service your particular type, brand and model of appliance.

MACAP offers this advice to help consumers avoid unnecessary service expenses:

Understand your warranty when buying. Does it include diagnosis of the problem and cost of travel to your home by a service man? Are parts and labor both included?

Avoid afterthought repairs... the kind that come when the homemaker asks the repairman to check or fix other items while he is there.

Be sure the appliance is properly installed, plugged in and that you are operating it safely and correctly. Re-check the instruction book before reaching for the phone book.

If difficulties occur which you can't resolve with the serviceman, dealer or manufacturer, then you should report all details to MACAP (20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60606).

Gastroenterology Symposium Slated

An International Symposium in Gastroenterology will be held in the auditorium of Mary's Help Hospital Oct. 10-11, 1974.

Planning for the two day event has been underway for over a year, according to Dr. Leo van der Reis, program chairman. Dr. van der Reis is chairman of the Department of Medicine and chief of the Division of Gastroenterology at Mary's Help Hospital.

At the Symposium, a wide range of topics of interest to both researchers and clinicians in the fields of gastro-troenterology, internal medicine and surgery will be discussed. Each presentation is designed to give an overview of the topic, including a discussion of current concepts, new developments in research and new procedures in clinical practice.

The conference will feature speakers from around the world, including physicians from South Africa, England, Australia, Holland, the United States and France.

A brochure describing the Symposium has been mailed to internists, gastroenterologists and surgeons throughout the western United States, and to all general practitioners in northern California.

For details on the Symposium, contact Dr. van der Reis at Mary's Help Hospital, 992-4000, Extension 260.

NELL

Good morning, good cooks.

With sugar prices on the rise, a cookie that calls for just a quarter cup of sugar and makes three dozen cookies sounds pretty good doesn't it? There is another sweet ingredient in the recipe, butterscotch pudding, which adds flavor and sweetness to the cookies.

BUTTERSCOTCH OATMEAL COOKIES

- 1/2 cup uncooked rice
- 1 cup flour
- 1 package butterscotch pudding, small 4-oz. size
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 cup oatmeal
- 1/4 cup chopped nuts

(Bake 350-degree oven — 12 to 15 minutes)

Cream the half cup margarine, blend in the package pudding mix. Add the one egg and mix. Sift together one-cup flour, one-half teaspoon each cream of tartar and soda and fourth cup sugar. Add to creamed mixture and mix well. Add the one-cup oatmeal and fourth-cup chopped nuts. Roll into small balls and place on ungreased cookie sheet. Flatten with moistened fork.

Bake in 350-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Makes three dozen.

If you make these cookies late in the afternoon, the oven will be hot and you can whip up this delicious dinner in a jiffy and let it bake while you read the afternoon paper.

PORCUPINES IN MUSHROOM SAUCE

- 1/2 cup uncooked rice
- 1 1/2 pounds ground chuck
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup green pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 package mushroom soup mix
- 3 cups water
- 1/3 cup sour cream (optional)

Combine the half cup uncooked rice with the 1 1/2 pounds ground meat, 1/2 cup each onion, green pepper and celery, the egg, two teaspoons prepared mustard 1/8 teaspoon pepper. Mix well. Form into 1 1/2-inch meatballs. Place in baking dish.

Combine the mushroom soup mix with the three cups water and heat to boiling. Pour over meatballs. Cover tightly and bake in 350-degree oven for one hour. Remove and stir in third cup sour cream. Serves six generously.

Red Cross Honors Two South San Franciscans

Two South San Francisco residents were honored for completing more than 150 miles in the Red Cross "Swim and Stay Fit" program.

Mrs. Irving Eskelsen and Clarence H. Santos both received awards at the Red Cross Board of Directors annual safety meeting which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Burna in Hillsborough on Aug. 9. Mrs. Eskelsen has completed more than 150 miles and Santos is over the 212 mile mark.

Santos' swimming record is extraordinary because arthritis necessitated surgery to replace both of his hip joints with plastic sockets. Even with his handicap, he swims at least a mile each day.

The Red Cross "Swim and Stay Fit" program was developed to encourage people to improve their physical fitness through a regular program of exercise. Presently more than 125 residents of San Mateo County are striving to attain the 50 mile swimming mark. Swimmers who complete the 50 mile swimming program receive a "Swim and Stay Fit" card and are eligible to wear the special 50 mile pin and patch.

Others who have participated in the program have included 42 students at Crestmoor High School in San Bruno. They swam a total of 553 miles during the last school year.

Skellenger Ceremony

Janet Skellenger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Skellenger of San Bruno, recently became the bride of William Nunan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nunan of Millbrae.

The couple exchanged vows at St. Robert's Church in San Bruno and greeted well-wishers at a reception at the Millbrae Community Center.

For her wedding, Janet wore a Victorian style ivory lace gown. Karen Costanzo, recently the bride of her sister, wore a purple and ivory Empire dress. Similar dresses were chosen by bridesmaids Lynn Bilinski and Vivi Stamos. Anne Turner and Nancy Skellenger, who also were bridesmaids for their cousin's wedding, selected pink and ivory Empire dresses.

LS to Interview For New Trustee

The Laguna Salada School Board was to interview five applicants last night for the position left vacant by the resignation of trustee Anita Heyman.

The announcement was made by President Dale Buettgenback at the board meeting Thursday.

An appointment to the board must be made by Oct. 10. The trustees could have decided to allow the post to remain vacant until the March 4 regular election.

However, the board appointee will still have to run for election in March.

Mrs. Heyman resigned because her family was moving out of the district to Alamo.

In a letter accepting Mrs. Heyman's resignation, San Mateo County Supt. of Schools J. Russell Kent expressed appreciation for her nearly five years as a board member.

"This is the type of public service which often goes unnoticed, but without which our democratic institutions could not survive," Kent wrote.

And in another matter, it was revealed by Superintendent James Brien that enrollment for the second day of school was 7,635, which is 191 pupils higher than the anticipated 7,444. Most of the increase was due to an enrollment of 853 kindergarten pupils, 156 more than the projected figure.

Brien attributed the kindergarten boost to an influx of younger families moving into the area.

Among other business at the meeting, the board: — Accepted the transportation agreement with Jefferson Union High School District.

— Adopted an intention to reappoint William Clemens as a member of the Personnel Commission, and agreed to hold a public hearing Oct. 17 on the nomination. Clemens' current term expires Nov. 30.

— Hired four teachers. They were Judy Balagot, Linda Mar; Florine Markoczy, Linda Mar; Rosanna Myers, Sharp Park; and Patricia Urrizola, Cabrillo.

Woodcarving and whittling, an eight week course, will begin Oct. 2 at 7 p.m. in Building 1, Room 105 on the campus.

The series fee of $18 includes the woodcarving tools.

Wooden jewelry, decorative chains, animal figures, or panels for doors or cabinets are among the wide range of things that may be created in this unique course.

Instructor Melvin Levy has been teaching woodwork 21 years.

Residents with an appetite for gourmet cooking will enjoy Preparing Fish-Game-Fowl with a Gourmet's Touch, a six week series to begin Oct. 1, at 7 p.m. at Pacific Heights Elementary School in San Bruno.

Larry Green, West Coast editor of Field and Stream Magazine and a gourmet cook, will teach the class how to prepare dishes so that the full flavor of fish and game can be savored. It will cover shellfish, salt and fresh water fish, wild edible plants, berries, game and fowl.

According to Green, "anyone who fries fish in grease ought to be hit over the head with the pan." He says there are 1,700 better says to prepare fish other than frying, and with today's meat prices, "you can't afford to miss the most unusual, informative cooking course ever offered at Skyline College."

Course reservation forms can be found on Community

T-Shirt Decorating Contest Underway

The San Mateo County Unit of the American Cancer Society is holding a "T-Shirt Decorating" contest for 10 to 18 year olds throughout the County, according to Jay Pausner, Chairman of the Cancer Society's Youth Board.

"We would like to stimulate the youth in the Community to take an active part in conquering this disease," noted Pausner, a student at Aragon High School.

"We felt this would be a fun way to reach the kids, and at the same time alert them on the importance of knowing cancer's warning signals," he added.

Prizes will be awarded for the most original and best executed design or slogan on a T-shirt, using one of four themes: "Fight Cancer," "Stop Smoking," "Good Health" or "Body Awareness."

The Contest, which ends October 18th, is one of several Educational Programs currently taking place in local schools under the auspices of the Cancer Society.

For further information on how to enter the Contest, contact the American Cancer Society's San Mateo County Unit at 1183 Chess Drive, Suite A, in Foster City or call 341-8749.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

2 Police Forces Get Programs

Two county police departments — Foster City and South San Francisco — will begin programs in January to bring citizens and police officers closer together. Michael Moretti, project director for the county's Human Relations Commission, reported Thursday night.

The project is one of two major programs being undertaken by grants from the CCCJ, he told the commission at its monthly meeting in Redwood City.

The other program is to get police officers and probation officers together so they will be able to understand each other's problems. It is planned to run some 250 officers and probation officers through the program starting in January so they can look at each other's attitudes and "interact" with each other, Moretti reported.

A program has been re-funded for the second year by a Manpower Development Grant to get low income students to be paid as intern police officers and to attend Canada College.

In the community involvement program, some 2,300 people have been surveyed, and 14 Foster City police officers and six community people have been signed up.

Miss Joyce Sylvester of Foster City, who has worked with the gay community and been involved in juvenile problems, has volunteered to work in the Foster City program.

Miss Sylvester, who said she has just completed her master's degree, reported she is interested in crises intervention.

"An individual can see trees where officers often see forests," she told the commission, reporting she has been active in working with migrant workers in Salinas in Monterey County and in Gilroy.

She expressed the hope she can set up workshops in the community program.

Water Connection Sought With SSF

The Westborough Water District, which operates the sewer system for its neighborhood, is currently negotiating with the City of South San Francisco for connection with its sewer plant.

Continuation of negotiations was approved at last week's meeting of the City Council.

Among issues being discussed is the annual sewer service charge Westborough residents must pay.

The district currently uses the Daly City treatment plant of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District. It maintains three lift stations to pump the sewage up Westborough Boulevard to Callan Boulevard where the sewage flows to the Daly City plant.

The NSMCSO has hiked its annual sewer service charge from $30 to $60 starting in September to pay off its capital costs for expansion. Westborough hopes to get a cheaper rate, possibly $27.

by joining the South San Francisco system, according to Frank J. Addiego, South San Francisco director of public services.

Westborough needs to rebuild two lift stations and remodel a third, estimated at $310,000. The low bid, however, has come in at $510,000.

The South San Francisco sewer treatment plant, which it shares with San Bruno, has a 13 million gallons a day capacity of which 8½ million gallons are now taken. Westborough would add ultimately 1½ million gallons still leaving room for further expansion of both South San Francisco and San Bruno.

While Westborough is now part of the City of South San Francisco, its water district was formed before its annexation. The city itself has no water district; it is served by a private firm.

Hurley Principal Of South City High

South San Francisco Unified School trustees have appointed George Hurley as principal of South San Francisco High School.

Hurley, 48, has been founding principal of Baden Continuation High School 11 years.

He also is the chairman of the State Advisory Board for Continuing Education, and a state officer in the School Administrators Association.

He replaces Thomas J. Gaffney, who has been appointed assistant superintendent for instruction for the district. Trustees now must fill the principal post at Baden High School.

Hurley came to the district in 1959 from Vancouver, B.C., where he studied and taught for 14 years. He started locally as a social science teacher at South San Francisco High, and became a counselor the following year. In 1962, he became principal of the adult school.

His service with Baden High was described by district administrators as "outstanding." The school reportedly has had the highest attendance record in the state.

Finance Aide Leaves Post

Friday was the final work day for Pacifica's assistant director of finance, Jerry Robichaud.

"I'm very sorry to see him leave," Finance Director John R. Pratt declared, adding that he is currently conducting an extensive search for a replacement.

Robichaud, who had been employed in Pacifica for 14 months, gave no reason for his leaving except that he decided to take it easy for a while, in semi-retirement, although still young.

He and his wife are going to Lake Tahoe where they plan to engage in cross-country skiing. He said he may work as a part-time teacher at the Sierra Nevada Community College.

He came to Pacifica from Hawaii where he taught at the Honolulu Community College.

Man Robs SSF Bank

A young man dressed in blue denims walked into the Wells Fargo Bank in the Brentwood Shopping Center in South San Francisco Monday afternoon, handed the teller a note stating, "This is a holdup," and walked out with $647.

According to South San Francisco police, the frightened teller placed the money from her cash box on top of the counter, and the robber picked up the money and walked casually out of the front door — apparently escaping on foot. He did not display any weapon.

Commute Service

Trains Are the Big Losers

Even though Southern Pacific's revenue from its Peninsula commute service has increased 1 million in the past few years, its fares do not cover the costs of the service.

That was the message given an audience of less than 30 persons at the first meeting in San Mateo County last week to report on a feasibility study of upgrading the railroad's passenger service at the San Carlos City Hall.

A second meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight at either the recreation center or in the council chambers of the Millbrae City Hall.

"Out of these procession of meetings something will come out," Eric Mohr, project director, promised, "either an extension of BART, upgrading of the SP commute service, or a combination of both."

Supervisor William Royer said he was "very pleased" with the report, and he feels it is "a feasible alternative to our transportation problem. The people will have the opportunity to make the decision ultimately."

Mohr described the present system as "a typical metropolitan commuter service — with morning and afternoon peaks and skeleton service in between."

The system, he noted, connects the third and fourth largest cities in California — San Francisco and San Jose.

But the service is subsidized by the railroad's freight service — which is also declining along the Peninsula.

The system, according to Mohr, is under utilized, with most trains operating without their full complement of nine cars and many of the cars not nearly filled.

Access to many stations is difficult, Mohr said, and the San Francisco depot is a mile from the central business district. The system does not serve either the San Francisco or the San Jose airports, he pointed out.

Four steps are recommended to improve service:

- Convert to all bi-level cars.
- Convert to "a push-pull operation," with engines at each end so the engines will not have to be turned around at each end of the service.
- Increase the track capacity by development of a central control center.

Work on 2 SSF Projects Stopped

The first cease and desist order issued by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission has been issued to stop work on two projects in South San Francisco.

The order was issued against Cabot, Cabot and Forbes, development company, and its client, the Di Salvo Trucking Co.

According to Charlie Roberts, executive director of BCDC, an area north of Oyster Point Boulevard was being filled, and the fill extended into a 100-foot strip of land along the bay that BCDC controls.

Also Roberts said, CC&F was building a parking lot along the bay, near Point San Bruno, without BCDC's official approval.

A public hearing will be held Oct. 17 when the commission will decide to make Roberts' order permanent or to direct the fill be removed, if necessary.

The work was detected, Roberts said, when he went out to inspect the site in connection with a proposal to change the boundaries of a future Shoreline regional park.

Roberts added that he has a number of "Bay watchers" who keep him informed of work on land BCDC controls.

Meanwhile, Don Bruzone, of CC&F's South San Francisco office, said that any violation of the bay fill laws was purely unintentional on the part of his company.

The contractor filling in the Di Salvo Trucking Co. plot had evidently "gotten enthusiastic" and overlooked the boundary markings along the 100-foot strip by the bay.

• Go to a full transit system so anyone can get a train within 15 minutes any-time of the day.

Another suggestion was to extend the commute service to a metropolitan transit terminal in San Francisco by tunneling four blocks under First Street in the city.

Mohr recommended a "stepwise" expansion of the system, but warned that as no mass, metropolitan system in the nation operates at a profit, and that the service will have to be subsidized by a public agency.

A proposed alternative to connect the commute line to a BART terminal in Daly City drew criticism from one member of the audience, who pointed out that two cities — South San Francisco and Brisbane — would be left without commute service.

Mohr agreed that BART officials have expressed concern over a train with 1,200 to 1,300 passengers unloading at once, when BART trains operate at a capacity of 740 passengers. He said this could be overcome, however, by operating BART trains at "two minute headways."

Councilman Robert A. Jones of Belmont agreed it would be "very cumbersome" to have such a transfer point.

Jones reported that several years ago, the Belmont Police Department clocked trains going through town at 70 to 80 miles per hour, although Mohr reported the "scheduled speeds" of the service, which include stops, average between 35 and 50 miles per hour.

In answer to a question if the railroad's request for a 111 per cent rate increase is not "a smoke screen" to get it out of the commute business, Mohr replied, "I'm reluctant to read SP's mind, but I'm sure it's looking for some way out and this dramatizes it."

Jones said he could see an extension of BART into San Mateo County "as a multi-billion dollar albatross on the public's neck."

After Mohr reported that freight service along the length of the Peninsula is declining, a worker in the railroad's Bayshore yards said during 1947-48, 1,100 freight cars were handled, compared to 500 today.

Jones charged the company with trying to get out of its passenger service by both taking out equipment and downgrading its facilities.

Site of Duel Is Dedicated

Excellent weather set the theme for the dedication of the Brodrick-Terry Duel Site on Sept. 14.

A large crowd of Daly City residents heard librarian Samuel Chandler deliver the major address. Chandler, in his talk, emphasized the point that in spite of the tragic results of the duel it is a part of our heritage.

The participants were men of principal and strong enough to sacrifice their lives for their beliefs. Men of this caliber were necessary to carve a great state out of the wilderness, Chandler said.

William Ray, executive director of the San Mateo Historical Association then spoke on the importance of preserving historical sites.

He was followed by Fred Peixoto, grand president of the Native Sons of the Golden West. Peixoto added a great deal of historical background to the duel and rededicated the monuments first planned on the site by Native Sons of the Golden West in 1917.

Al Kane, vice chairman of the Park and Recreation Commission, presented the Park to the City Council for acceptance. The Council in turn accepted the Park for the people of Daly City. Rev. Current of the United Methodist Church gave the opening prayer and Father Thomas Parenti of Our Lady of Mercy Church pronounced the benediction.

Mayor McRobert Stewart, the master of ceremonies invited those attending to a reception hosted by the Westlake Estates Homeowners Association at the Gerson Baker Clubhouse in their Merced Hill Development.

The Westlake Estates Homeowners Association also presented the City Council with certificates of appreciation for their leadership in the development of the Duel Site Park.

The park is located on El Portal Way just off Cliffside Drive.

Music for dancing will be by the Key-Notes, and a buffet with the taste of sunny Italy will be served at 11 p.m. For reservations call Mrs. Charles Boerio, 755-7834, or Mrs. Edward Carey, 992-2019.

'Cactus Flower' in Final Performances

The Pacifica Spindrift players' production of Abe Burrows' comedy hit, "Cactus Flower" will have its final two performances on Friday and Saturday evenings at Oddstad Park center, 1000 block of Crespi Drive in Pacifica.

The fun of "Cactus Flower" starts in what seems a forbidding way, a pretty girl named Toni is saved from a suicide that she has attempted by turning on the gas, because the dentist she is having an affair with has failed to keep a date with her.

The dentist has been protecting his cherished bachelor status with a story about a non-existent wife and three children, but now, moved by Toni's attempted suicide, he announces he will get a divorce and marry Toni.

This is not so easy, since Toni insists on first confronting this spouse in order to explain that she is not a home-wrecker. Then she also wants to meet the non-existent wife's non-existent boy friend whom the dentist also invented as the reason for the wife's willingness to grant the divorce.

To meet this demand, the dentist persuades his starchy nurse-receptionist to impersonate his wife, and complications pile atop complications. This new role for the nurse causes a change in her otherwise formal personality, which only causes the dentist more dilemmas.

Marj Heise is seen as nurse Stephanie Dickinson, Gary Nelson as dentist Julian Winston, Candi Rettig as Toni Simmons and Al Schilf as Igor Sullivan. Warren Gabrielli is Harvey Greenfield, Darrel Greer is Senor Sanchez and Roberta Ewald is Mrs. Dixon Durant. Bev Gabrielli is Boticelli's Springtime, Brent Burgess is the customer and Bob Southworth is the waiter.

Sydney Clark is the director of "Cactus Flower," and Janice Justice is the assistant director.

Curtain is at 8:30 p.m., and tickets are available at the door.

Mercy Mothers Guild Sets Tea and Reception

The Mercy Mothers' Guild will hold a tea and reception Oct. 6, at Mercy High School, San Francisco.

The tea will be held in Rist Hall from 2 until 4 p.m. Mrs. Richard Russell is this year's chairwoman. This event will provide an opportunity to welcome all new Mercy's students and their mothers.

The occasion will allow all to meet socially and most especially to meet the freshman faculty, the Mercy Guild officers, and the student body officers. A most important point of interest will be a tour of the school facilities.

The Mothers' Guild is looking forward to a close relationship with the new mothers.

Retired Persons Meeting Set

The Daly City Area Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will hold a picnic Sept. 27, at Willow Shelter in Junipero Serra Park in San Bruno.

Membership in the AARP is open to all persons 55 years of age or older.

Historic Kick

As sometimes happens, we were recently "cut" midway through an item, the result of which made us appear to be somewhat daffy, as we had promised "some facts (note, the promise was plural) you perhaps didn't know or have forgotten about Bobby Thomson's historic homerun against the Dodgers' Ralph Branca in the final game of the 1951 pennant playoff."

Trouble was, no sooner had we relayed one "fact" than the column had been involuntarily ended. No complaint here. That's news-biz. But one or two readers (which is approximately 50 per cent of our readership) were curious as to what followed, so we'll run the whole thing through again, as they say.

Before the homerun, Thomson was the game's goat, having misplayed two ground balls which were generously scored as base hits and which helped move the Dodgers into a 4-1 lead, and messing up a promising rally with foolish base running (see, the Giants did it even when they were successful) when the score was tied, 1-1.

Thomson also beat Branca with a game winning homer in the first game of the three game playoff. Thus, Thomson's two homers in the playoff were game-winners off the same pitcher. Thomson, incidentally, had a single and a double, as well, in the third game.

Had Thomson done anything but hit a homerun or into a doubleplay, the next hitter would have been rookie Willie Mays (Hard to imagine Mays batting seventh in any lineup, isn't it?).

And finally, Branca's uniform number was 13, and the winning pitcher was Larry Jansen, who had relieved Sal Maglie in the ninth inning.

WHILE WE'RE on the historic kick, some things about Johnny Vander Meer's double no-hit feat and his career of which you might not have been aware.

Vander Meer's second no-hitter, against the Dodgers on June 15, 1938, inaugurated night baseball in Brooklyn.

He was just 23 and in his first full year in the majors when he turned his immortal trick.

What made Vander Meer's effort even more astounding than it might appear today is that at that time he pitched those two no-hitters in succession. NOBODY had ever pitched more than two no-hitters in an entire career, and that included such giants, remember, as Cy Young, Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson. In fact, only eight pitchers in baseball history had, to that time, pitched as many as two no-hitters in a career.

Prior to his first no-hitter against the Boston Bees, there hadn't been a National League no-hitter in four years (by Daffy Dean).

The second no-hitter lifted Vander Meer's record to 7-2. He finished the season with only a 15-10 record and an ERA of 3.12. Vander Meer, who pitched in the big leagues for 13 years, never won more than 18 games in a season (he had an 18-12 in 1942) and only five winning seasons, and finished his career with a 119-121 record, and a 3.44 ERA.

Vander Meer once pitched three consecutive no-hitters in semi-pro ball.

He was originally signed by the Dodgers, who lost him after one year in the minors due to a mixup in a transfer of papers.

His father, seeing his first major league game, witnessed Vander Meer's second no-hitter. What a way to break in!

GEORGE VASS, a sports writer out of Chicago, has an interesting and possibly controversial article in the September issue of Baseball Digest. Vass subjectively, without any real scientific analysis, picks the 10 best all-time baseball teams. Actually, it would have been almost foolish for Vass to be anything but subjective, because no science could accurately evaluate the relative effectiveness of baseball teams operating in difference eras. Anyway, for what it's worth, here is Vass' Top Ten:

1. 1927 Yankees. 2. 1931 Athletics. 3. 1970 Orioles. 4. 1919 White Sox. 5. 1961 Yankees. 6. 1942 Cardinals. 7. 1921 Giants. 8. 1955 Dodgers. 9. 1909 Pirates. 10. 1906 Cubs.

Vass says that the following 11 clubs also rate near the top: 11. 1936 Yankees. 12. 1953 Yankees. 13. 1954 Indians. 14. 1957 Braves. 15. 1967 Cardinals. 16. 1973 A's. 17. 1911 Athletics. 18. 1912 Red Sox. 19. 1946 Red Sox. 20. 1934 Cardinals. 21. 1929 Cubs.

ED KIRKPATRICK, the Pittsburgh Pirate platooning first baseman, is the prototype of the fringe player who can hang onto a major league career because he's a good guy, and is willing to sit the bench with dignity, or hustle when he does play.

Kirkpatrick, originally an Angel bonus baby, just never quite turned out to be as good as they thought he'd be. He's big (6' 200), but not huge, can throw and run some, but not extremely well, has a .238 lifetime batting average with just 73 homers swinging from the left side of the plate.

He's kicked around from the Angels to Kansas City and now to the Pirates, where perhaps, in his thirteenth year in the bigs, he's about to be rewarded with a pennant winning team. He deserves it.

He broke in as a catcher, and is still competent at that position, but he also has played all three outfield positions adequately, can fill in at third in an emergency, and is a capable first sacker.

He has played all of these positions — at times all of them in one season — without ever complaining to a manager that it upsets his general play to switch positions.

In a recent radio interview, when he was asked if switching positions hurt his concentration in the field or at bat, or if he had to make major physical adjustments such as exercising different muscles because of the difference in throwing from behind the plate, for example, and the outfield, he answered simply, "No. It makes no difference. If you can hit, it doesn't make any difference where you play. If you are a ball player, it shouldn't make that much difference where you play on defense. It's all running and throwing and thinking, just from different angles on the field."

WHEN YOU HEAR football coaches complaining about opposition coaches "pouring it on" this season, perhaps you could remind them that baseball often "pours it on" and that baseball managers are never questioned about it.

After all, did you ever see a baseball team with a 9-0 lead going into the last inning lay their bats down and refuse to try to hit the ball over the wall against the obvious losers?

LOCAL NOTE: Al Figone, former Terra Nova head baseball coach now studying in Utah for a Ph.D. so that he may be called Dr. Figone when he returns to his post as head baseball man at San Francisco State, postcards, from Cooperstown, New York, where, like any real baseball man, he's spending part of his vacation. Cooperstown is where the Baseball Hall of Fame is located, in case you've forgotten.

Contenders' Early Showdown

Cap Comeback Nips Camino

By CHRISTOPHER STAVE
Post Sports Writer

Capuchino High tried to sting like a bee, but ended up having to slug out a 16-12 comeback win over stubborn El Camino Friday night at Burlingame Field.

There were separate philosophies operating in the early showdown between two County grid powers, each a top contender in its own league.

Capuchino, the defending MPL co-champion, wanted to strike hard on the speedy running of Bob Warfield and the accurate arm of third-year quarterback Ralph Costanzo.

Defending NPL titlist El Camino dealt mainly in body blows — smash after smash between the tackles, until it seemed certain the Cap front wall (as well as the crowd) would eventually grow numb.

Cap opened with a strong hurry after Frank Flores blocked a Camino punt 26 yards from paydirt.

Warfield carried three times, Costanzo mixed in a pass and Warfield followed with a 10-yard sprint for a score. Costanzo hit sophomore Dennis Hawkins with a pass for the two-point conversion.

After that Cap pricked Camino several times, with Costanzo picking up short and middle range completions almost at will. His offensive line gave him a count of eight to throw.

But Camino had a habit of stiffening, and Cap suffered two interceptions, a fumble and a rash of penalties.

At the end of the second quarter Camino, which had hardly even handled the ball, took possession of a fumble on the Cap 21 and marched in. Mike Evans scored from three yards out. The Colts, with 47 yards total and one first down, had closed the score to 8-6 at the half.

Evans, who'd seen little duty in the first half, returned the opening kickoff in the second to his own 49 and the Colts' repeated blows began to tell — they scored in eight plays, picking up four first downs along the way.

Evans got 35 of the yards and Gary Ottonello scored from the two. Camino led 12-8.

The two lines fought a tremendous battle after that; Camino had trouble moving. Cap didn't, but couldn't score.

At the end of the third quarter Cap drove to the Colt 13, mostly on option pitches to Warfield, but by the end Camino had a pretty good idea where the plays were going. The Colts bounced Warfield for losses of seven, one and four yards to kill the threat.

Finally, in the fourth quarter, Costanzo got the stinging together on a 68-yard drive. There were three key plays — a 24-yard pass to Haskins, a 13-yarder to Marc Barnoli and finally a scrambling 30-yard run by Costanzo himself.

The Colts, with Evans running and Mike Williams hitting a key pass, got back to Cap's 19 with three minutes left, but Costanzo broke up a fourth-down pass at the ten to clinch it.

Cap coach Vince Marchi wasn't pleased with the Mustangs' turnovers and penalties, but he knew they'd beaten a good team. "Capuchino is as quick a team as I've seen in a long time," he said. "Their linemen really move off the ball."

"This Capuchino team is a good one, but it doesn't have as much composure as last year's team yet."

Cap is now 2-0 and El Camino 1-1.

Scoring: C — Warfield 10 run (Haskins pass from Costanzo); EC — Evans 3 run (pass fail); EC — Ottonello 2 run (run fail); C — Costanzo 30 run (Liberty pass from Costanzo).

Padres Down Awalt 21-8

By STEVE JOHNSON
Post Correspondent

Probably the last thing Serra High quarterback Jim Freitas expected to do Friday in Mountain View was get hooked up in a passing duel.

His favorite receiver, John Caselli, was expected to get double coverage — and did. His starting tight end Mark Schon, was out with a leg injury.

But Freitas came up with the best passing game of his two-year varsity career as the Padres beat Awalt 21-8.

Freitas completed 15 of 28 passes for 305 yards, and for the second straight week heaved three touchdown passes.

Awalt, which had a reputation as a run-oriented team, went to the air instead 31 times, with 13 completions for 147 yards.

Freitas pierced Awalt's highly regarded defense early in the first quarter. On second and long from the Spartan 41, Freitas hit back Rick Garban on a perfectly-executed screen for six points. Serra converted and held a 7-2 lead at the half — Freitas had been caught once in his own end zone.

In the third quarter Freitas again turned in a big play on second and long. Dan Wallis, who subbed well for injured star running back Jim Walsh, beat a linebacker down his left sideline, took a pinpoint pass from Freitas and scored from 39 yards out.

Late in the last quarter, with Serra holding a 14-8 lead and trying to eat up as much of the clock as possible, Caselli shook loose from his close coverage.

Freitas hit Caselli with a short delay over the middle. Caselli outran three defenders for a 42-yard TD that iced the game with three minutes left.

Freitas did suffer four interceptions, but only one really hurt. That was a 75-yard return in the third quarter that accounted for Awalt's lone touchdown.

But Serra returned the compliment on Awalt, also picking off four passes. Linebacker Brad Corsiglia got the biggest one, with seven minutes left in the game and Awalt threatening at Serra's 14-yard line.

Serra got 377 yards total offense to Awalt's 214, most of it on Freitas' passing. Top Padre receivers were Rich Allen (four catches for 75 yards) and John O'Leary (four for 44).

The game was Awalt's opener; Serra is now 2-0. Serra 7 0 7 7-21
Awalt 0 0 0 0-8
Scoring: S — Garban 41 pass from Freitas (Allen kick); A — Safety, Freitas tackled in end zone; S — Wallis 39 pass from Freitas (Allen kick); A — Stott 75 interception return (kick failed); S — Caselli 42 pass from Freitas (Allen kick).

Smith Is Top SM Qualifier

Craig Smith surprised a few of the local notables in the weekend's qualifying for the San Mateo County Golf Championships.

Smith strung together rounds of 72-73 for a 145 total, two strokes better than Brian Krowell and Kelly Whelan. Dean Prince, recent loser in the Northern California championships at Pebble Beach, finished with a 149 total, the same as defending champion Frank Mazion.

The low 32 players will tee off Saturday at San Mateo Muni links, with the first foursome leaving the tee at 9 a.m.

BOB BE NIMBLE

Capuchino High speed back Bob Warfield (28) leaped over and around El Camino defenders for 116 yards in 24 carries Friday night at Burlingame High, but Cap still had to fight hard for a comeback 16-12 win. Here, Warfield hurdles Mike Warren (69) while Gary Ottonello (45) gives chase.

NPL Clubs Even Records

Three North Peninsula League teams evened their practice season records at 1-1 with wins Saturday.

Oceana downed St. Elizabeth's 20-14 in the East Bay. Half-Moon Bay beat Robert Louis Stevenson 19-0 in Pebble Beach and Serramonte handed visiting Sacred Heart its 23rd straight loss, 30-16.

Menlo School took a mildly disastrous trip to the wine country Saturday, dropping a 45-0 decision to Justin of Napa.

Serramonte fell behind Sacred Heart 9-0, but newly installed quarterback Keith Pult struck back for the Regents — his first pass was a 65-yard TD strike to Jerome Williams.

Serramonte's Bob Manbert accounted for 18 points on two TD runs (one of 59 yards), three kick conversions and a 22-yard field goal.

The Regents had zero yards rushing the first quarter, but ended up with 214. Manbert got 101 and junior fullback Skip Campbell 92.

Half Moon Bay coach Jerry Murphy knew what he was doing when he switched last year's quarterback, Chris Goetz, to wide receiver. Goetz hauled in scoring passes of 60 and seven yards from Scott Jones against Stevenson.

Jones wound up throwing for 205 yards while the Cougar defense, sparked by Scott Amour and Mike Mahan, kept Stevenson stymied.

Oceana trailed St. Elizabeth's 8-0 at the half, but struck hard in the third quarter.

Lenny Sanchez connected with Calvin Ellison on a 55-yard scoring pass; Ellison carried for the two-point conversion. Shark defensive back Derek Tucker recovered a muffed St. Elizabeth's punt snap in the end zone to tie the game 14-14 after three quarters.

Ellison scored the winning points on a 77-yard run. The senior halfback gained 102 yards in 15 carries and caught three passes for 98 yards. Oceana maintained a balanced offense, 185 yards rushing and 148 passing, while holding St. Elizabeth's to minus 22 rushing.

Panthers Defeat Rams

When you're hot — well, you know.

Mired in the doldrums of a nightmarish first half, sophomore halfback Byron Hawkins shook loose for a strong finish Friday to lead Burlingame High to a come-from-behind 16-13 victory yesterday over the visiting Westmoor Rams.

Hawkins must have wondered what he had done wrong to get the God of Gridiron angry at him. After a sensational opening last week his first five carries Friday netted him minus 13 yards and two fumbles, one of which the Rams picked up.

But, showing maturity belying his sophomore status, Hawkins stayed with it and things, naturally, got better. They had to.

Westmoor (0-2) didn't exactly play like a team that had been shut out and beaten by 50 points the week before. The Rams, behind fullback Dan Tong, flew to a 13-0 lead as quarterback Harold Day, who hadn't completed a pass in 10 tries the week before, started finding his receivers on sprint-out patterns.

Day hit junior halfback Ricky Wyatt from the 28 just into the second period and on the second play of the second half connected with junior Terry Hartsfield on a 70-yard touchdown aerial.

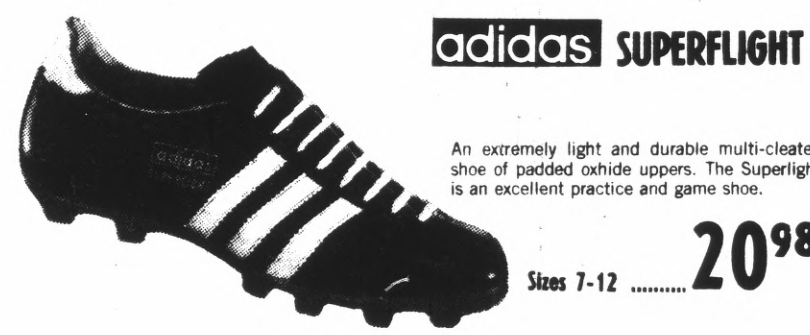

On the Rams' next series, however, Day was thrown gangland style for a safety and the Panthers were moving. Fullback Rick Harper, who gained 102 yards, started bulling his way around the Ram defensive line, enabling Paul Curry to scamper in from the eight just before the quarter ended to make it 13-8, Westmoor.

Three identical plays over right tackle on the next Panther series clinched the game. Curry went right through Westmoor for 49 yards before Hawkins added the final 17 through a hole so sinfully big the touchdown should have been called back — things aren't supposed to be that easy. The same play on the PAT made it 16-13.

Westmoor threatened one more time but Hawkins, who had had another TD called back on a clipping call, came across the field to run Day out of bounds on the 13, two yards short of a first down, and end the contest.

Sub Sinks South S.F.

By JERRY LITTELL
Times Correspondent
One year ago this week St. Ignatius had a fullback on the junior varsity team named Mark Guntren.

Varsity coach Gil Haskell watched the lad run and mentally jotted down "No speed, good size — make him a lineman". As a senior this year Guntren toiled as an offensive guard. Until last night, that is.

With both the starting halfback and full back sidelined by injuries, Haskell was desperately looking for a running back during practice. He remembers his "slow" ex-fullback and switched him into the Wildcat backfield.

All Guntren did last night at Clifford Field was outrun the entire South San Francisco team in leading the Wildcats to a 7-0 victory, their second in two pre-season outings, while the Warriors dropped to an 0-2 mark.

Even though he didn't score the game's lone touchdown — that came on a 14-yard pass from quarterback Jim Morrison to Kevin Murphy with 58 seconds left in the first half — Guntren did much more than could ever be humanly expected of a regular running back, let alone a converted lineman.

The Wildcats ran the ball 40 times — Guntren carried 32 of those tries. St. Ignatius totaled 189 yards on the ground, of which Guntren managed 159. He did fumble once but he was forgiven in a Christian-like manner by Haskell.

"Great coaching decision moving him to guard, eh?" grinned Haskell after the game. "Now it will be a tough decision as to just what we should do with him after everyone is healthy again." Thirty other local teams wish they had those types of worries.

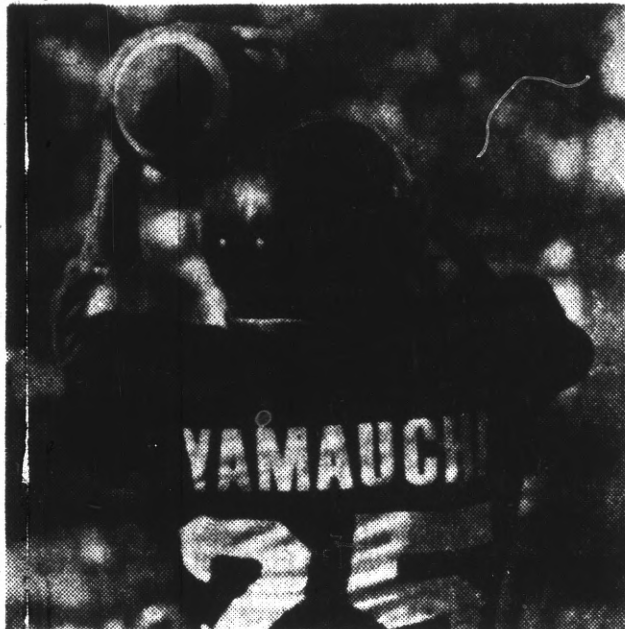

The Warriors started off the game as if they would blow the visitors right off the field. The first three running plays netted 37 yards, right, left and middle. But South City, although dominating the early going, couldn't penetrate the interior defense of the Wildcats, led by senior tackle Bryan Johnson, when they got inside the 25.

Three times in the first half the Warriors punched upfield only to run into the stone wall when a score seemed almost a certainty. The last time set up the night's only touchdown.

Starting from their own 18 after clogging up the Warriors, the Wildcats gave the ball to Guntren on seven of 11 plays with the fullback getting 47 yards on that drive before Murphy slid off two tackles to put it over.

South City was unable to balance its running attack with an aerial game as the Warriors completed just one of seven passes for 18 yards. Tailback Tali Ena led the SSF rushers with 72 yards in 12 tries.

SCORING STREAK

Aragon High's Duane Yamauchi hauls in pass in 25-6 win over Jefferson Friday; Yamauchi caught three scoring passes from Jim Chakos in the game. Yamauchi has four TD catches in the first two games.

Dynamic Duos Lead Aragon

Aragon High's football team let loose two pair and came up with a full house Friday against visiting Jefferson.

One pair — quarterback Jim Chakos and Duane Yamauchi — combined on three scoring pass plays, while the other pair — line-backers Jim Perris and Kevin Stevenson — held Jeff down as Aragon took a 25-6 non-league win.

Jefferson was outmatched before it even took the field, since the entire squad numbers 21. Aragon had little trouble upping its record to 2-0, 11th 38 points scored and six allowed.

Aragon took a 12-0 first quarter lead on the first two Chakos-Yamauchi strikes, from 12 and 13 yards out.

Jeff narrowed the halftime gap to 12-6 on a 12-yard pass from Mark Rudd to John DeNatale.

But Aragon added 13 more in the third quarter to eliminate any doubts.

Yamauchi hauled in his third score from Chakos, a seven-yarder, and Steve Hardman tallied on a nine-yard run.

The Panthers ran up 265 yards on the ground to just 78 for Westmoor. Day had his best day in three years completing nine of 17 for 185 yards and two TDs.

Knights Get Win, QB

Hillsdale High's football team didn't have a set starting quarterback to open the season.

Friday night in Pacifica, Van Batchelder — one of two players fighting for the position — passed for 171 yards (6-10), fired three touchdown passes and ran well besides to lead the Knights to a 28-19 win over Terra Nova.

Hillsdale now has a set starting quarterback. "He sat out last year and that set him behind for this year," said Knight coach Ron Anderson. "But the way he's played so far, I would definitely have to say he's No. 1."

Batchelder started his clutch passing in the first quarter after Terra Nova had blasted through the Knight defense on the ground for a touchdown on the first series.

Batchelder hit Rick Pasanisi with a 31-yard pass to tie the score 6-6.

In the second quarter he connected with Ron Walton on a 50-yard scoring play after scrambling away from three would-be tacklers. Later in the same period, he plunged over from the one to put Hillsdale up 22-6 at the half.

Terra Nova managed to pull within three points with five minutes left in the game, but Batchelder settled matters with a 63-yard bomb to tight end Hugh Eden with 3:15 remaining.

Terra Nova's ground game operated effectively throughout, totaling 229 yards. Dave Matas was the Tigers' leading rusher with 147 yards on 41 carries, including a 41-yard bolt in the third quarter.

TN's Tony Ballestrasse, who scored the Tigers' first touchdown, had 64 yards in 14 carries. Fullback Mark Reynolds led Hillsdale with 11 for 61.

The Knights lost Walton to a broken collarbone — he'd caught three passes for 77 yards.

Defense Keys Mills Victory

Mills High's defense took center stage and held it for four acts Friday as the Vikings opened their non-league season with a hit in the East Bay — an 18-0 win over Oakland Tech.

Mills stayed on the ground most of the game, but didn't really control the ball. The Vikes ended up with 121 yards total, 110 of them rushing.

Still, they were able to finish up when the defense drew blood.

Ken Novich, leading the Mills stoppers, put the Vikes in position for a first quarter score by blocking a punt; Bill Athens scored shortly afterward on a two-yard run.

An interception and 12-yard return by Athens in the 3rd period eventually resulted in a two-yard scoring sneak by quarterback Bob Merrill.

In the fourth quarter Oakland made a vain try to pass its way back into the game, but turned over the ball on downs at its own 29.

Hillsdale is 1-1 in non-league games, Terra Nova 0-2.

College of San Mateo's water polo team lost both a game of its arch-rival and its star player Saturday. Foothill edged the Bulldogs, 8-6, in the consolation finals of the Cabrillo Invitational and in the process former high school All-American Jim Purcell suffered a lacerated left hand. It took more than a dozen stitches to close the wound on his shooting hand.

CSM Runaway

By FRED BAER
Times Correspondent

College of San Mateo's football team evidently earned its lesson well from that thrashing a week ago in Bakersfield. In fact the Bulldogs utilized much of the same pattern Saturday in upending hapless American River, 26-0, before an estimated 1,413 fans at CSM.

That turnout, which was fairly good for the Bulldogs, was exactly 10 per cent of the crowd that saw host Bakersfield utilize a second-quarter spurge to bury CSM.

Saturday San Mateo tallied three times during the first half of the second quarter, taking advantage of Rick Parham's fumble recovery on the ARC eight and Ray Barrow's 36-yard interception return to the Beaver 27 after driving 66 yards for the first tally.

That 16-0 halftime lead appeared sufficient, with American River going nowhere all day, but the Bulldogs added scores in both periods after the intermission anyway.

It was anything but an awesome power display, however. CSM was often sluggish and failed to show offensive consistency. As head coach Steve Shafer stated, "We're still not playing with the intensity and concentration of a championship football team.

And the Bulldogs (1-1) begin defense of their Golden Gate Conference title Saturday afternoon when Peninsula rival Footbill (0-1-1) visits the hilltop campus.

It was sophomore Steve La Plant's accurate foot that provided most of the scoring punch against American River. He split the uprights on two carbon copy 28-yard field goals and on both of his extra point attempts. "I was pleased with La Plant," said Shafer. "I feel he's as good as anyone in the state."

While CSM was in Beaver territory all day and didn't score, American River seldom crossed the mid-field stripe. The only time in the first half ARC got into San Mateo territory was on a pass interception 45 seconds before halftime which placed the ball on the 44. The Beavers got to the 38 and were thrown back to the 45 by Joe Atkinson and Joe Elder before the gun. That was the visitors' deepest penetration of the game — although they did get just across mid-field three times in the second half.

San Mateo, which was held to 26 yards rushing by Bakersfield, limited ARC to 27 on the ground — and just 56 passing. Although the Bulldogs rolled up 322 net yards, 201 rushing, there wasn't an individual standout.

Ten Mateans carried the leather, with Larry Croon (8 for 56), Al Smith (10 for 40) and Skip Strathearn (6 for 41) the leaders. Most of slot-back Strathearn's distance came on an impressive 24-yard end around TD gallop.

The defense got the last score after CSM fumbled the ball away on the Beaver three. Two plays later American River fumbled in the end zone and linebacker Jim Gonzalez fell on it for Bulldog touchdown.

San Mateo's passing was erratic. Starting QB Rudy Castellanos completed only eight of 22 passes for 110 yards. Bill Fass grabbed four for 48 yards.

It was American River's 11th straight loss — dating to CSM's 1973 triumph.

Van Dine Run King

Former Golden Gate Conference cross-country champion Jim Van Dine made his first appearance in a College of San Mateo uniform since the spring of 1973 Saturday as the Bulldogs placed second in their own invitational Beach Run at Half Moon Bay.

West Valley won the team competition with 41 points to 88 for CSM and 112 for favored El Camino among the nine teams entered. Skyline was eighth with 185.

West Valley's Rich McCanliss won the four-mile race in 23:04 with Van Dine fourth in 23:27. It was the first competition for Van Dine since pulling leg ligaments more than a year ago and CSM coach Bob Rush was pleased with the comeback progress. Barbara Bladen Film director Robert Altman has a following for his personal style of filmmaking. Just as Fellini, Bergman, Ford, Godard indelibly imprint their own philosophy in their creative output, so has Altman emerged as an imaginative and innovative filmmaker.

Didn't "Mash," "Brewster McCloud," "McCabe and Mrs. Miller," "Images," "The Long Goodbye" and "California Split" leave a mark in the recent cinematic sweepstakes? Not all were box office or even critical successes but they do speak well for the director's objectivity in dealing with new forms and experimenting with less popular styles (such as a constant hum of conversation where individual dialogue isn't meant to be clearly understood).

'Thieves Like Us' Lacks Originality

But now he's come up with "Thieves Like Us," (opening this week in the Bay Area) and it doesn't belong in the same league as the aforementioned, let alone say anything for originality or theatricality.

There is none of the spirit, wit, dramatic impact or panache of earlier films although the story by Caler Willingham, Joan Tewkesbury and Altman, based on the novel of the same name by Edward Anderson, is about three bank robbers during the Depression years. The violence is minimal (except for a shoot-out finale that is a massacre), the love-making subtle to the point of dull and suspense and excitement non-existent.

John Schuck, an Altman regular who is now a familiar face on television but who developed a wide following from his American Conservatory Theater performances, is the more crude and blustering of the trio comprised of Keith Carradine and Bert Remsen. Here are three ex-convicts on the loose—Carradine, a withdrawn young murderer; Schuck, a bullish drunk who is jealous of the other men's attraction to women and the bigger newspaper accounts of their exploits; and Remsen, the older of the gang and the more jolly.

From the beginning they appear inept. But this isn't a comedy. There isn't a laugh anywhere to be had and in their dumbness, or call it backwoods simplicity, one struggles to find anything sympathetic or courageous or even interesting about their plundering and cold blooded murdering of innocent bystanders.

Shelley Duvall plays a Mississippi gas station owner's scrawny teen-age daughter who tends the pumps and dutifully waits on the hiding desperados her father is harboring. There is a mutual attraction between Miss Duvall and Carradine who tells her corny jokes and makes her laugh. She goes away with him—not as an accomplice, but to a cabin in the woods where she waits for him to come back from a bank caper.

Scenes between these two are the slowest of the grueling snail-paced film. For some unexplainable reason (other than her open, almost innocent smile and saucer-sized dark eyes) Altman moved the camera into closeup, whenever she's in the room. Carradine acts in a quiet, rational manner, delivering lines in low key tones with barely any change of expression. Miss Duvall has all the animation but she's a homely girl and I frankly got tired of having to see her so often.

French Actress Honored

French actress Jeanne Moreau will be honored in person at the 18th Annual San Francisco International Film Festival (Oct. 16 to 27) with a special program dedicated to her career in motion pictures.

Miss Moreau first received international acclaim for her performance in Louis Malle's "The Lovers" in 1959. She rapidly became the foremost actress in European cinema, working with most of the prominent directors in the film world, among them Francois Truffaut ("Jules And Jim") and "The Bride Wore Black"), Antonioni ("La Notte"), and Orson Welles ("The Immortal Story" and "The Trial").

Her current performance in "Going Places" demonstrates that Jeanne Moreau continues to be one of the most remarkable actresses and screen presences in the history of film.

SP Rate Hike Bid Criticized

San Mateo County Engineer Sid Cantwell charged last week that Southern Pacific Railroad wants to dump its Peninsula commute service as soon as possible.

Appearing before a state Assembly transportation subcommittee hearing, Cantwell said Southern Pacific's request to more than double fares on its Peninsula commuter service "would get them out of the commute business a lot faster."

The assembly transportation subcommittee, headed by Assemblyman Louis Papan (D-Daly City), has completed a two-day public hearing on the requested fare increase.

Southern Pacific's request for the 111 per cent fare increase on the Peninsula commute service has encountered sharp criticism.

Papan then noted that despite the losses suffered by SP on its commute service, the company is making healthy over-all profits on its total railroad business. "The company generally ignores the fact that they are licensed to provide a freight railroad and a passenger service railroad," Papan said.

"The fare increase you are seeking is going to put an undue hardship on the people who would use your service," Papan lectured Southern Pacific officials.

Papan added that a prime concern of the assembly transportation subcommittee is that if the fare boost was granted it would force passengers to abandon the railroad and go "back to their autos."

Bill Burns of Palo Alto, a member of the Peninsula Commuter Transit Committee, charged that railroad has been attempting to discourage Peninsula residents from riding their commuter trains.

Color TV Lounge For the Shirt Tail

Adrian Stickney is doing something unique at his Palo Alto Shirt Tail restaurant every Monday night. He's converting one of the banquet rooms into a TV lounge so that his patrons may enjoy the NFL Monday Night Game of the Week. Color TV, of course, and the Shirt Tail's usual variety of hot and cold hors d'oeuvres will be served until the game's final whistle has blown. Also, jumbo cocktails. Luncheon or dinner can be as simple as a sandwich, a bowl of minestrone, a salad, or as grand as a full course Italian meal at Romano's Italian restaurant, in Rockaway Beach. Owner Enrico Romano prepares the delicious sauces and meats personally, and you better believe it's good! If pizza is your preference, you've come to the right place. You name the concoction, Romano's serves it. More accolades for Phil Lehr's Steakery and Wellington Room in downtown San Francisco. This time from the Mobil Travel Guide, which gave the Steakery a rave recommendation for the third consecutive year. Family-style service is a feature at the Skylark restaurant, where Chef Ray Lim offers an appealing variety of dishes on his Gourmet Chinese Dinner (two or more persons). There is also an impressive list of a la carte Chinese specialty dishes. No matter how large your party (up to 65 persons) or how late it may seem to be for dinner (service until 1 a.m.), Chef Ray Lim invites your patronage. Yes, American dinners are also available.

REMARKABLE DUO

Jade II brings to the Ivory Coast Lounge at Holiday Inn, Belmont, a combination of rhythm and sound that makes them welcome nightly, Tuesdays through Saturdays. The getting together of these two fine musicians proved to be a good move.

Burlingame Hyatt New Dining Room

Bob Williamson, general manager of the Hyatt House Burlingame, has announced that the date for the opening of the hotel's new dining room, Hugo's Market, is Friday, Sept. 27. You'll see a complete new room, new menus, and new image. Appetizers and salad from the $10,000 Salad Bar are included with dinners. Look for the grand opening festivities to be held next weekend. Fred Martinelli, owner of Oliver's in South San Francisco, isn't one to lavish praises on his own restaurant. However, he will say that he is particularly proud of his dinner menu. Two selections of note: The Cannelloni and Oliver's famed Abalone (in season). And don't overlook the selection of C. K. Mondave wines at this popular restaurant. If you're heading for Lake Tahoe this weekend, a beautiful new resort on the North Shore is Northstar-at-Tahoe. This recreational paradise offers luxurious accommodations, an elegant restaurant, and a rewarding amount of relaxation. A great spot to get away from it all in the High Sierra. The Jolly Friars, a group of business and professional men of various ethnic and religious backgrounds, will hold their sixth annual Grand Ball on Saturday evening, Oct. 5, in the Grand Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel. Proceeds will benefit the Capuchin Franciscan Seminarian Fund. For reservations and tickets, call William Armanino or Bill Mennuti (467-3500).

Nick's for Banquet Groups 300 Persons

Did you know that Nick's restaurant and lounge, located at the water's edge in Rockaway Beach, offers banquet accommodations for up to 300 persons? And the home-like hospitality of this family-operated restaurant prevails throughout. However, ever since owner Nick Gust joined the political ranks of Pacifica, he is harder to catch than the eight-spot on a Keno ticket. Across the street from Nick's is The Moonraker, a more sophisticated atmosphere to go with fine dining, and Captain Charles, a gourmet seafood restaurant. If this is your weekend to get away from it all, a deluxe way to spend it is in Reno. Call 345-0488 and ask Kay at Park Avenue Tours about Harold's Club "Super Tour." It's three-day and two nights of fun. The deluxe package is $45.70 per couple. But with the total refund at Harold's Club being $31.70, it costs you only $14 per couple. Prime Rib fanciers will find an appealing new item on the menu at the Castaway, Coyote Point. The King Kamehameha is a huge prime center cut of aged beef which Manager Al Stuetzle says is becoming one of their best selling items. Cisco and Boston Mason, one of the best bands to perform on the Peninsula, is dividing musical time between Vince Russo's two restaurants, The Eggplant in Burlingame and The Distillery in San Bruno. The clever menu in the Jilly Kong coffee shop, Royal Inn, South San Francisco, offers an exceptional breakfast, luncheon and dinner variety. Diamond Lil's new manager, Craig Williams, hasn't wasted any time in making some changes he felt were necessary. Look for a new menu to debut soon. George Green, owner of the Gold Platter restaurant, at one time owned four different restaurants in New York, including one located across from Penn Station, in New York City. The Gold Platter, conveniently located for those taking in the close-by Circle Star Theater, is Green's first restaurant venture on the West Coast.

Finocchio Eve-ettes Open and Close Show

Newcomers to the colorful Eve-ettes chorus line, which is featured in four shows nightly at Finocchio's, an after-dark club on San Francisco's Broadway strip, are Florenzo Santos and dancer Pepper Fox. The Eve-ettes open and close every show. The Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco, is experiencing a booming banquet business. A large banquet room was recently added to the existing facilities, giving General Manager Erik Pedersen and his sales staff more versatility in booking meetings and business conferences. Seventeen different Italian Submarine Sandwiches can be found on the menu at Christopher's in downtown San Mateo. These authentic Eastern submarine palate pleasers are prepared with a special oil blend. Football fans should take advantage of the special 99 cent spaghetti feed served in the Ivory Coast Lounge of the Holiday Inn, Belmont on Monday nights during the NFL Game of the Week. Included are salad and garlic bread. Roast Prime Rib au jus is a specialty on weekends and Holidays at the House of Troy in San Carlos. A ladies cut of this aged choice beef is also offered. Dinner seven days a week; luncheons served Monday through Friday. Reservations for the Holiday season are now being taken at the Ben Jonson restaurant, located in San Francisco's Cannery. Early reservations for any party function here is advisable.

Licata Teamwork Business Success

The teamwork of the entire Licata family, headed up by Vince, his wife, Nina, sons Tony and Louis, and daughters Angela and Rosalind, is what keeps Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant bustling day and night with diners from all around the Bay Area. Their "famous for good food" reputation takes on meaning, whether you order a hamburger on French bread or a full dinner. Imagination and skill combine here to lift every item above the ordinary. Watching those calories? You can maintain a regular diet of low-calorie goodies at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City and still enjoy a wonderful meal. The Pepper Steak is possibly one of their choicest dishes. Broiled Mahi Mahi and the Highlander Sirloin are other outstanding recipes. If Prime Ribs of Beef is what you have in mind, this award-winning restaurant serves it any way you like it. The new Monday luncheon fashions shows at Lehr's Greenhouse garden restaurant in San Francisco are an instant success, judging by the number of men and women who flock in to enjoy gourmet continental luncheon specialties while they feast their eyes on the latest in men's and women's fashions, presented by the Bay Area's top models.

'Salome' Is Fascinating

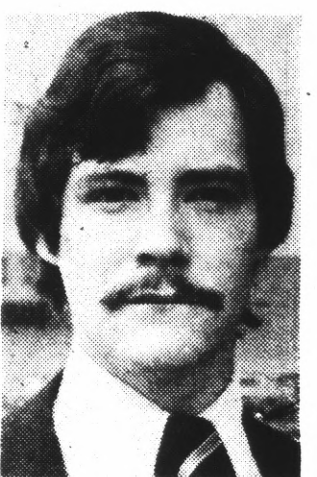

By CHRISTOPHER STAVE
For "Salome," Richard Strauss said the ideal lead would be a 16-year-old with an Isolde voice. Leonie Rysanek-Gausmann, the Salome in the San Francisco Opera production which opened Sunday, is half of what Strauss wanted, and maybe half is enough. Rysanek, who's 48 and not sylph-like, hardly looks the part of the chaste but neurotic teenage princess whose perverted whims dooms three lives. But Rysanek is a veteran, intelligent dramatic soprano who's always been able to get the most out of climactic moments, and is more than equal to the task of topping Strauss' lush orchestration. After the Dance of the Seven Veils (which is creditably executed) the princess repeatedly asks the reluctant Tetrarch Herod for the head of John the Baptist, who has spurned and reviled her. "Gib mir den Kopf des Jokanaan!" Rysanek intones, and from then on her dramatic ability and vocal talent erase questions of credibility. The production overall is a success. The orchestra is particularly important in Salome, perhaps even paramount. The pit forces under Otmar Suitner, who led the 1972 S. F. Ring Cycle, last year's "Elektra," were fine. Suitner provided the proper flow without losing detail in important coloristic effects. German baritone Siegmund Nimsgern, making his San Francisco debut in the role of Jokanaan, was excellent in what is potentially a weak, didactic role. Nimsgern is no pale proclaimer, but an impassioned zealot. His strength is welcome when the Princess becomes fascinated with him; at that point it is still hard to imagine Rysanek as the young, twisted innocent (though she is in full command of the music); she needs a strong foil. Tenor Hans Hopf, the Herod, was thoroughly capable in his first San Francisco appearance. Hopf is an old hand at Bayreuth, and has all the necessary vocal credentials. Veteran mezzo Astrid Varnay was properly acid as his wife, Herodias. Tenor William Neill was fine as Narraboth, the young officer whose fixation for Salome drives him to suicide. The minor characters were nothing less than professional.

JOEL GREY
Gala Host

Joel Grey MC of Film Fest Gala

Actor-entertainer Joel Grey will be the guest host for the Opening Night of the San Francisco International Film Festival. The Oscar-winning performer (for "Cabaret" in 1972) will preside over the ceremonies inaugurating the 18th annual program of this oldest event of its kind in the United States. Following the introduction of special guests, there will be a salute to the 50th anniversary of Columbia Pictures, and the World Premiere of "The Odessa File," starring Jon Voight and Maximilian Schell. After the film, there will be a dinner party at the Hyatt Regency. Tickets for Opening Night are now on sale at the Festival office. Tickets for all other events in the 12-day program will be available at the Downtown Center Box Office beginning Sept. 30.

DC Youth Opens Ad, P.R. Office

Keith R. Thomas, 21, a native of Daly City and graduate of Serramonte High School, now attending San Francisco State University, has ventured into the business world by forming a partnership and opening his own advertising-public relations agency. Pereira-Thomas & Associates officially opened for business on January 1st of this year, however, for the first five months Keith worked with his partner Ron Pereira, a recent graduate of San Francisco State University, out of his home in Daly City to cut down on expenses. Recently, they moved to larger headquarters in the Humboldt Bank Building in San Francisco. While their first accounts were small, they handled a NASA Ames Research Center public lecture series. "EARTH 2020: Visions For Our Children's Children", Peninsula Auto Rental - a division of Daly City Toyota Motors and have recently completed the Grand Opening - Great Giveaway Celebration promotion for Oakland Honda. As a full service agency with a staff of six, Pereira-Thomas & Associates has prepared medical catalogs, brochures, pamphlets and other forms of collateral material in addition to performing various marketing services for their Bay Area-wide clientele.

Filmmakers New Award Category

Academy Award-winning cinematographer James Wong Howe will be honored with a tribute at the 1974 San Francisco International Film Festival, to be held Oct. 16 to 27 at the Palace of Fine Arts Theater. This is the first tribute to a cinematographer in the Festival's 18-year history.

The legendary Howe has been working in Hollywood films since 1917. He has received nine Oscar nominations, and holds the award for "The Rose Tattoo" and "HUD." His ingenious methods and stunning effects have enhanced films for over a half century, in such films as "Trail of the Lonesome Pine" (1922), "The Thin Man" (1934), "Algiers" (1938), "Yankee Doodle Dandy" (1942), "Body and Soul" (1947), "Come Back Little Sheba" (1952), "Picnic" (1955), and the recently completed "Funny Lady," starring Barbra Streisand. Following a program of film clips, Howe will discuss his work with the audience in this Oct. 19 program.

Marine Lance Corporal Donald E. Rowlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Rowlett of 2328 Branner Drive, Menlo Park, has graduated with honors from Computer Sciences School at the Marine Corps Base, Quantico, Va. He received instruction on the preparation of computer input data, and on the organization of automatic coding systems. Rowlett serves with Marine Wing Support Group 27 at the Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro. A 1973 graduate of Woodside High School, Redwood City, he joined the Marine Corps in January 1973.

Weed Program Draws Protests

Emotions ran high Monday night as the Pacifica City Council heard protests to its chemical weed abatement program.

Councilmen voted 3-2 to continue the program another year, but with a few changes. Voting no were the newest councilmen, Sid Loran, and Janice Fulford, who said: "I cannot vote to poison the earth."

Although the protests failed to end the program, they did result in provisions that:

- Sprayed lots will be posted, so as to warn persons away from the poisoned plants.

- The program will be monitored by the San Mateo County Agriculture Department.

- The city will make sure that trained persons, who will strictly follow directions and warnings on the label, will do the spraying.

- A suggestion by Councilman Stan Farber that lot owners be given a third alternative — to pay young people to clear the lot by hand, which would provide youth employment.

The council majority acted upon recommendation of Fire Chief Calvin Hinton and Fire Inspector Thomas Elliott. Hinton had started the program several years ago in order to cut down on the many grass fires that plague Pacifica every summer.

Hinton had contacted seven major agencies throughout California and concluded that the three herbicides used, Simazine, Amitrole and Atrazine, were safe. Agencies included three Los Angeles County agencies—where an extensive investigation of the problem had been conducted — the Environmental Protection Agency, and state, federal and county agricultural departments.

Elliott reported that the program would eliminate fire hazard, improve the aesthetic appearance of lots, remove potential health hazards, eliminate potential water-borne debris flowing into the city drainage system, remove weeds from curbsides so as to enable street cleaning machines to operate more efficiently, and increase property values.

The three herbicides — according to the various agencies contacted — have been in wide use for the past decade and "are recognized as being relatively non-toxic. There have been no reported cases of poisoning in man, and all tests performed on animals have proved to be non-fatal, according to city aides.

Protests centered around an extensive report presented by Hen Min Hiu, 1132 Glacier Ave., Pacifica. Hiu and his wife, Arlene, took 2½ weeks in performing the research for the report.

The Hiu found that:

- One chemical used persisted for 17 months before decomposing.
- Herbicides were being used in far stronger concentrations than recommended by the labels.
- Some animal injury was shown by incomplete tests done on one herbicide.
- San Pedro Creek is endangered, since it received all the drainage from its area. Its trout can be killed, erosion can choke the channel and the water drawn from the creek for drinking purposes can be contaminated.
- One herbicide could result in malformed babies.

"Defoliation by any means will harm the soil," he declared.

Damage done to the soil can be irreversible. Soil deprived of organic matter can turn to rock. This has been happening in Creekside where he lives, he noted.

When asked by a councilman what he would do about weed-filled lots, Hiu replied that he believed that a community's vacant lots presented opportunities for "many parks and many gardens."

The chemical program, he alleged, would not help the fire department's objectives, he claimed.

Herbicides actually help some weeds. Those that are resistant to herbicides will increase when their competitors die out. Erosion will increase without the plants, he predicted. He criticized Elliott's finding of the herbicides as being only "relatively" non-toxic.

Mel Jones of Francisco Boulevard, cited the Dutch custom of planting tulips on vacant lots.

John Curtis, 15 Birch Lane, hit at the lack of planning. He claimed that there had been no studies of the composition of the soil, or the kinds of weeds.

City Mgr. Dave Thompson gave praise to the program in upgrading the appearance of Pacifica's vacant lots, as well as cutting down on fire damage.

New Method of Air Layering

By IVA NEWMAN

Recently a new method of air layering which has been 97 to 98 per cent successful has been reported by Takumi Hayashi in the Kyoto Bonsai Magazine and translated into English by Hiro Takahashi of the San Mateo Bonsai Club. Before experts advised the use of sphagnum moss even though experienced propagators had only 60 to 70 per cent success and novices achieved less than 50 per cent success. The new method has been quite successful on five-leaf pines which are notoriously difficult to propagate.

This new method can be applied to all sorts of trees such as conifers, deciduous trees and fruit trees. As a general rule, rooting takes from 120 to 140 days but a strong, well-nourished tree will root after about 100 days. In case of a weak tree, the rooting will not take place in the same year as the layering but it will in May of the following year. In the case of Black or Red pines, rooting takes place after about 60 days, therefore the layering operation should be done in late March to early July. In the case of deciduous trees, if layering is performed in late May the rooting takes place as early as July.

Hayashi strongly suggests that a tree grafted on another rootstock should not be used. He also states that no matter how you try, the graft union eventually will become a gall or knarl, which makes the tree extremely ugly. In contrast, the tree which is obtained by aerial graft and subsequent layering, is a genuine five-needle pine from roots, trunk and branches to foliage. It is not only a worthwhile method to create a future bonsai but also the tree created by this type of layering has a tendency to fast, vigorous growth.

Since the rate of successful rooting by this layering method is 97 to 98 per cent you can arrange and shape the branches while roots are forming. If you perform the layering after the branches are shaped, you can get an even better result as a bonsai. Hayashi also recommends that trees to be air layered be fertilized the previous year. He suggests that an air layering operation should not be performed on a tree which has just been transplanted. Wait a full year to do the layering.

On the area of the trunk or branch where you would like the roots to form, make a ring cut completely around the trunk or branch you plan to air layer. Be careful not to make a deep wound into the xylem with the knife. The next step is to make a vertical cut 3 to 4 millimeters wide from the area about 2 centimeters above the ring cut to come down into it.

Peel Bark Radially
From the ring, cut and peel the bark together with the cambium layer upward off the xylem surface as if spreading the strips made by the vertical cuts. Bind vinyl tape around twice on the inner side of the cambium layer, so-called xylem, so that the spreadout cambium layer does not spring back and stick to the xylem. The tied vinyl tape should be pushed up so the cambium layer spreads radially like an octopus' legs.

There should be from eight to ten strips (octopus legs) on a pine about 1 centimeter (2/5 inch) in diameter. Two or three white roots just like bean sprouts will grow out from each strip of cambium layer. Roots also will grow from all the junctions of the radially peeled off cambiums.

On a pine tree with eight strips of cambium layers spread radially just like an umbrella's ribs, approximately 16 to 25 roots will sprout out, therefore on a tree with a large trunk, one has to thin out some of the roots because of excessive numbers. In order to avoid such a situation, it is better to peel off less than 15 to 16 strips of cambium layers.

Cut a transparent vinyl sheet into the shape of a round fan and wrap it up the layering area to create a funnel-like space all around it. Wrap the shaped vinyl sheet tightly against the trunk about eight centimeters down from the ring-cut area and staple together seven or eight places on the vinyl sheet from the bottom to the top.

Use Vermiculite Only
Put vermiculite into the funnel-shaped bag of vinyl. Then, tap the trunk lightly with your hand to settle the vermiculite so as to get it into even the tiny gaps between the xylem and the cambium layers which are spread out radially. After the funnel-shaped vinyl bag is well filled, make nine or ten holes about two millimeters in diameter in the bottom portion of the vinyl bag to get better drainage. The easiest way is to push the sharp end of a nail upward against the vinyl.

If the holes are either too few or too small, the vermiculite will flow out the top with water due to the bad drainage when you water. Consequently, it will expose the layering area and eventually the tree will die, therefore you have to be careful to get the right amount of holes in the vinyl.

One must be most cautious to use only vermiculite in this layering method. Do not use any other type of soil or sphagnum moss. All the trees which had the eylem in the layering area wrapped with sphagnum moss died. Hayashi believed the death of the trees was due to the acidity of the moss. Also, all the plants died when perlite was used. And, only 20 per cent rooted when a red pellet type soil was used. From the above, one can see the superiority of vermiculite over other materials.

As soon as the vermiculite is in the vinyl cup it should be watered thoroughly. After the first watering the vermiculite should be watered thoroughly with a mist sprayer. If watering is done with a sprinkling can the parent free frequently dies from excessive water on the root system. Even in the heat of summer one watering each morning is quite adequate.

As soon as roots appear (sighted from outside) and 7 or 8 rootlets (hairroots) ramify from roots and grow to 2 inches long, it can be separated from the mother tree. Make the cut 8 to 10 centimeters beneath the rooted area on the mother tree. The downward extension of the trunk will protect the newly grown roots but will also help keep the newly rooted plant in place. After separating set the new plant in a 5-inch clay training pot, being careful not to injure the soft juvenile roots. Place the plant so that its upper roots will be about 2 inches below the rim of the pot.

The soil should be either a sandy soil or coarse sand. Eliminate powdery soil under 1 millimeter for better drainage. Put grains of soil as big as soybeans at the bottom of the pot. When the plant is potted spread sphagnum moss on the surface to prevent soil splashing and from drying out. For plants separated in August set the pots in half-day shade for 15 days then in full sun in an area with good ventilation. Shaping and training the branches should wait one year after the first potting. Fertilizing also should be postponed a year.

ACN Wine Tasting Slated

The 15th annual Wine and Cheese Tasting sponsored by the Association of Catholic Newsmen will be held Oct. 9, in the lobby of the Paramount Theatre of the Arts in Oakland, Broadway and 20th Streets, starting at 5:30 p.m. Wines by Christian Brothers and cheeses by the Marin French Cheese Company of Petaluma, featuring Rouge et Noir varieties. Donations are $2.50 per person, with tickets available at the door. Proceeds go towards the annual Edward V. McQuade Memorial Awards to Journalists for "Social Justice in Reporting." BART's 19th Street Station in Oakland is less than a block from the Paramount.

Salvation Army Needs Goods

The Salvation Army, noting a 30 per cent drop in repairable furniture and clothing donations, has appealed to householders to telephone for Red Shield trucks to pick up items.

Major George Duplain, who directs a rehabilitation center in which 200 work daily, asked for the donations "to avoid what appears to be a very real need for cutbacks in people served."

Two Injured in Separate Mishaps

Two persons were injured in separate accidents in South San Francisco within 20 minutes of each other

Saturday morning, police report.

At 2:20 a.m., according to police, John G. Phillips, 569 Commercial Ave., South San Francisco, driving eastbound on Grand Avenue in a subcompact car, rear-ended a Dodge van driven by Patricia Skinner.

Phillips was rushed to Peninsula Hospital where he was admitted for treatment of head injuries and shock.

Twenty minutes later, Joanne Albonico, 27, San Bruno, was driving westbound on Westborough Boulevard near Junipero Serra Boulevard, police report, when her car hit the shoulder and rolled over two to three times, landing on its top. She was rushed to Mary's Help Hospital where she was treated for contusions to her left thigh.

'Y' Fitness Program

A new adult physical fitness testing program will be offered this fall with fitness classes to follow at the Peninsula YMCA, 240 N. El Camino Real, San Mateo, tailored to individual needs.

Instructors who have taken a YMCA training course and the CPR course offered by the American Heart Association will conduct the interchangeable, coed classes six times daily Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays for six weeks.

Testing is required with individuals tested for cardiovascular fitness, anthropometric measurements, flexibility, strength and motor performance.

Administering the tests will be Jeff Long, "Y" Health and fitness director, who with Joyce Nelson, "Y" health and fitness chairperson, a fitness committee, and specialists have developed the testing program.

"After the testing has determined your areas of weakness or strength," Long says, "the YMCA will tailor a fitness program to your individual needs."

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA OLDS DEALERS

“We’ve got a feeling you’re going to like all our 1975 Oldsmobiles, including our sporty new Starfire.”

It's a good feeling to have an Olds around you.

"There's a lot of new small coupes on the market. What makes Starfire special?"

"Starfire is a 4-seater Supercoupe with Oldsmobile for a last name."

Starfire is smaller than compact in size—but it's so big on looks, features and performance (and economy), it's really a brand new kind of car: a Supercoupe.

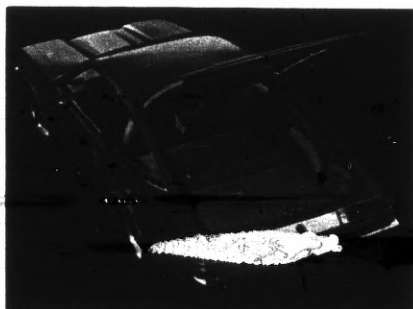

It was born for the sport of driving. Plush bucket seats. Console. Gauges and tach. New V6 engine, 4-speed full-synch gearbox. Torque-arm rear suspension. Power front disc brakes. GM-specification steel-belted radial tires.

Which helps explain why it's a good feeling to have this Olds around you.

High-back buckets, front, fold-down seat in back.

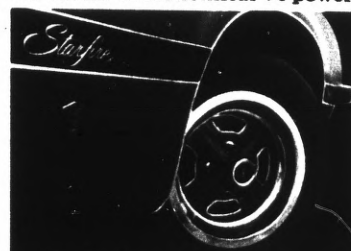

We hatched the back to carry a load.

A sleek, action look—coming and going.

231 cu. in. of economical V6 power.

Super Stock wheels, chrome rings, stripes are available.

Starfire standard features include: 57-inch wheelbase • Curb weight, 2865 lbs. • New V6 engine with 2-bbl. carburetor, high-energy ignition and catalytic converter emission control system • New extended-interval maintenance schedule • Full-synch 4-speed transmission, shifter mounted in center console • High-rise front bucket seats • Lights/gauge instrumentation • Tachometer • 4-spoke, softgrip steering wheel • Map pockets on doors • Plush-pile carpeting • Steel-belted radial tires, 13 x 6 wheels • Torque-arm rear suspension design • Power brakes: disc front; drum rear • Pliable nose and tail surfaces • Hatchback rear door • Folding rear seat, carpeted deck over 5 feet long • Space-saver spare tire, carpeted cover.

Available equipment includes: Turbo Hydra-matic • Power steering • Tilt steering wheel • Anti-spin axles • Raised-letter or white-wall steel radial tires • Super Stock sport wheels • Leather upholstery • Air conditioning.

"We drive down to the ocean a lot. So we were thinking about stepping down to an import to save gas."

"Omega Salon is a roomy compact that's easy on gas—yet it's equipped to give you the kind of comforts you'd get in a little touring car."

First, Olds improved the basic, low-price Omegas for '75. The results were so impressive, they went on to create a new compact-size touring car: Omega Salon.

With high-back reclining lounge chairs in front, a new steering geometry and a steel-belted grip on the road, it has the kind of look and feel you'd expect in an imported touring car. But not the price. Salon also has those basic Omega improvements for gas economy. It's a lot of little Olds—and then some.

Contoured seats, padded wheel rim, plush carpeting—in a compact!

Touch the lever, lounge back at the angle you like.

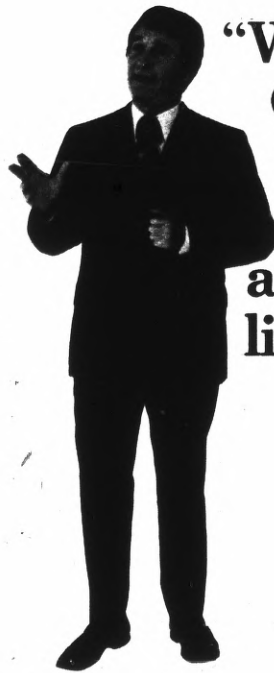

Omega and Omega Salon come in coupe, hatchback and 4-door models.

Omega Salon standard features include: Automatic transmission • Front and rear stabilizer bars • High-back reclining front seats • Special Salon interiors • Softgrip sports steering wheel • Wheel discs • Headlamp dimmer switch on turn-signal lever.

All Omega models include these features: 111-inch wheelbase • Steel-belted radial tires • 250-cu.-in. V8 engine • High-energy ignition • New catalytic converter emission control system • Extended-interval maintenance schedule • Economy axle • Flow-thru ventilation system • Cut-pile carpeting • Deluxe vinyl and vinyl/cloth trims • Swingaway grille.

"I don't make a lot of money—so I can't spend a lot. But I still want a car I can be proud of."

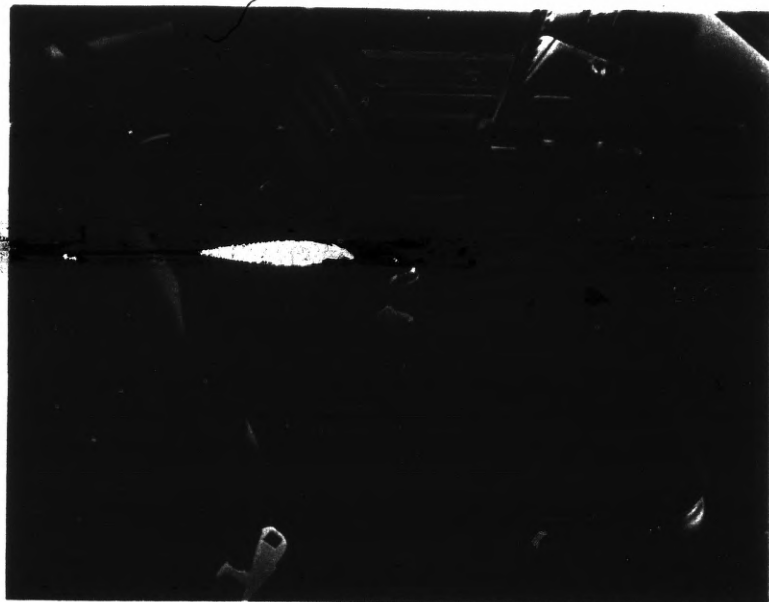

"When you step up to a Cutlass—for less than the price of some other mid-sized cars—you'll be proud and pleased. And you'll like the gas mileage, too."

When Car and Driver readers voted Cutlass America's "Best Domestic Family Sedan" in '73 and again in '74, you know it's a car to be proud of in a lot of ways.

Now it's also more economical, in a lot of ways. High-energy ignition. Economy axle. Catalytic converter emissions control. GM-specs steel-belted radial tires.

All standard. A thrifty Six is standard, too—and a new "baby" V8 is available. The nice thing is, Cutlass is still an Olds in looks . . . and ride . . . and value.

Good-looking, deep-foam seats—for comfort that keeps its good looks.

Swivel buckets, available in Cutlass S.

Steel-belted radials, standard.

Besides a Cutlass coupe, there's our sporty Cutlass S.

"A woman in this business needs a car that makes a good impression on people. But I don't want to spend a fortune to do it."

"Take a good look at Cutlass Supreme—our 'little limousine.' It's a very luxurious car for its size and price. Delivers good mileage, too."

What's made our "little limousine" so popular is all that luxury in a trim, easy-handling car. Now it offers smaller engines and better gas mileage, too.

Supreme makes available some things even big limousines don't. Like contoured bucket seats that swivel you in and out, with reversible seat cushions and backs—durable vinyl on one side, rich fabric on the other. And Tempomatic air conditioning. All to make your Supreme even more of a little limousine.

Our little limousine also offers swivel bucket seats . . .

Reversible cushions: vinyl or fabric side.

"My Mom lives way out in the country, so we need a car that'll take a lot of driving, but not a lot of gas."

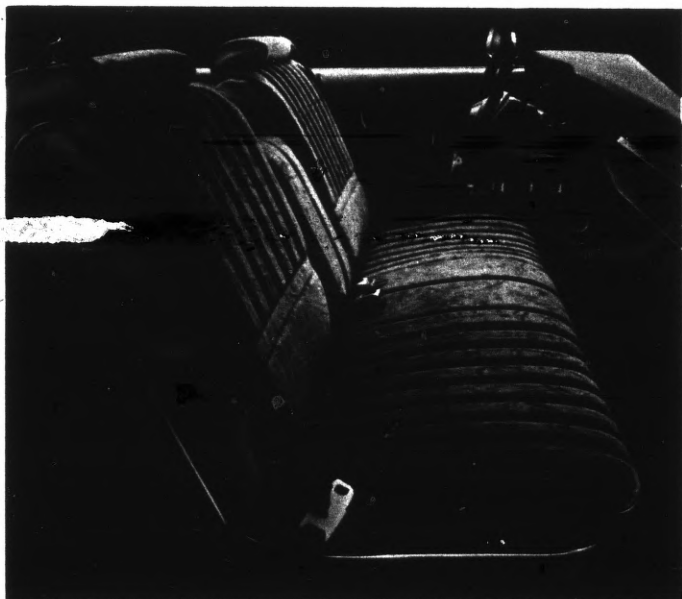

"The family sized Delta 88 Royale is built to take a lot of miles and give good gas mileage. And it'll take you in style and comfort, too."

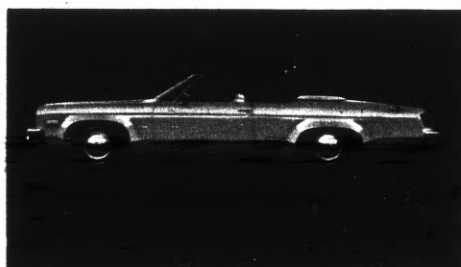

Delta 88's been known to be a tough car, built for the distance. Now it's built to get more efficient performance and more distance from every gallon of gas.

With less required maintenance, at that. But there's more. Olds has re-tuned the ride. Changed the emissions system. Restyled the roofline of 4-door models, and added those little windows you see. So if this year's Delta 88 seems to take you farther and more luxuriously on a gallon of gas, it's not just illusion.

Luxury, comfort, center armrest—all standard in this Royale.

Yes, there's still an Olds convertible.

Available: economy gauge.

Electronic message center monitors up to 9 functions.

"I think they've done a great styling job on the 98's — but what'd they do about gas?"

"With Oldsmobile's 98 Regency and Toronado you don't have to lower your standard of driving to raise your miles per gallon."

"I've been a Toronado man since '67, but these days you have to consider gas economy, too."

98 Regency—famous for its uncommon touches—now has some new ones: New rectangular headlamps, new side visibility and rear styling, a new smaller V8 engine available. Plus more miles per gallon than last year.

"The kind of kids I drive around can break just about anything. So I need a wagon that's tougher than they are."

"There's a wagon full of reasons to buy an Oldsmobile. Being tough is just one of them."

"We spent a year finding just the right house. Now we need a luxury wagon that's tough enough to help on moving day."

Oldsmobile reserves the right to make changes at any time, without notice, in prices, colors, materials, equipment, specifications and models, and also to discontinue models.

Vista-Cruiser: With Rocket 350 V8, automatic transmission, power steering and brakes, GM-spec. steel-belted radial tires, and basic Olds durability standard on a 116-inch wheelbase, you've got a tough wagon. Cutlass Supreme wagons, too.

Custom-Cruiser: Think of it as an Olds 98 with loads of cargo space. 127-inch wheelbase, luxurious interiors, deep-foam seats and deep-pile carpeting—and now, more miles per gallon than last year. Available without side paneling, also.

It's a good feeling to have an Olds around you.
